Pa. livestock take high honors at KILE

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

HARRISBURG — Termed "one of the top livestock shows on the East Coast" by Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell, Pennsylvania's 25th Keystone International Livestock Exposition got underway last Friday with over 3,400 top beef cattle, sheep, swine, and horses competing for $75,000 in premiums.

For stories and results of the cattle, sheep and horse competitions, look thoughtout this issue of Lancaster Farming.

Over 475 breeding swine and barrows were entered in competition this year — a suprising number considering the more stringent health regulations imposed on breeding swine since the pseudorabies outbreak in Pennsylvania and current hog industry economics.

Dennis Grumbine, president of the PA Swine Breeders Cooperative and KILE exhibitor termed the show "decent, considering health regulations could have stagnated the numbers."

He pointed out there were more hogs entered in the carcass class this year than ever before, with 242 hogs being slaughtered. This was up from last year's 200 head.

There were no breeding stock shown last year due to pseudorabies precautions. This year's entries were down slightly from previous years — not coming close to the numbers shown during the hog hay-day of six years ago, however.

"This follows through with what's been happening at most fairs in the state and follows the economic trends of fewer numbers in the hog industry," Grumbine explained.

Pam Yeagley's lamb tops Manheim

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

MANHEIM — What 4-H is all about was graphically illustrated Thursday night in the Manheim Fair's sheep competition.

When 13-year-old Pam Yeagley accepted the grand champion market lamb trophy with tears of joy trickling down across her broad smile, it was a reincarnated scene of her father, Elvin, some three decades ago.

In just her first year of 4-H, Pam, of R1 Elizabethtown, brought her 115-pound Suffolk-Hampshire cross, "Jumbo," into the winners circle.

Back in 1947, her father, Elvin, had a grand champion lamb at the Farm Show when he was in 4-H. He also had a couple of reserve champion steers.

And Thursday night it was difficult to determine who relished Pam's win more – the daughter or father. For one, it was the sweet taste of a first victory. For the other, it was a victory relived.

Since the father's 4-H victories as a youth, the family has moved off the farm and now live "in the country" next to the farm of major league pitcher Gene Garber.

The winning lamb was purchased in July out of the flock of Lancaster breeder, Clyde Brubaker.

"I named him Jumbo because of his size," Pam explains.

"He was always bigger than the rest."

Pam cared for the lamb, plus a couple of others along with her younger brother, Phillip, on the acre of land at the family home.

"I'd walk and run him a mile to a mile and a half each day," she said.

Also, we had this little jump made out of part of a swing and used it."

Actually, Jumbo was a joint animal of Pam and Phillip, who also had separate animals. This was Pam's second show. She was at Elizabethtown last week and had two class firsts and a second.

In capturing her first big 4-H win, Pam bested the Suffolk entry of a more veteran showman, Barry Martin, of R1 East Earl.

In Pam's immediate future now

House Committee blocks Block Voting bill

BY SHEILA MILLER

HARRISBURG — During their meeting of the House Ag Committee here on Tuesday, a full-member session blocked the Block Voting bill by a vote of 18-5.

All 23 members of the House Committee on Agriculture and Rural Affairs were present for the vote on controversial HB 767. The motion to report the bill from committee was soundly defeated.

Prior to the official record call, Representative D. R. Wright amended the bill and removed all the sections except those that addressed the block voting issue, such as the reduction of time from five to three years for the Secretary of Agriculture to call a referendum, and the two-thirds vote.

The 18-5 vote directly reflected the central issue — block voting versus non block voting by farm cooperatives. The proposed elimination of the modified block voting system presently used in Pennsylvania was killed, and co-ops will be able to continue to cast votes for their non-voting membership in marketing referendums.

Pennsylvania Farmers Association, the State Grange, several major dairy cooperatives, and the Department of Agriculture had gone on record at previous hearings testifying against HB 767. Favoring the bill was the Pennsylvania Farmers Union and former Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer.

The issue of block voting and the other sections of HB 767 are now "dead" unless reintroduced by the legislature.

Tuesday's committee meeting also considered the newly introduced Right to Farm bill, HB 1823, sponsored by Lancaster's Noah Wenger.

The bill, which is only three pages long, attempts to: protect farms that follow normal management practices from local ordinances that would interfere with these normal practices; and protect those normal farmers from public nuisance suits brought against them by non-farm citizens complaining about noise, dust, odor, or the hours of operation.

According to Wenger, this bill would not protect farmers who do not comply with existing state laws, such as the Clean Streams law. "This bill gives farmers protection without protecting the sloppy farmers," he explained.

HB 1823 remains in committee, held over for further action. However Wenger expressed optimism that the bill would be favorably reported out of com-

The Bottom Line

As everybody knows the bottom line represents your profit or loss, and at WALTER M. DUNLAP AND SONS we do all we can to enhance your profit or minimize your loss.

How do we do it?

The answer is in the way all livestock consignments are expertly sorted and handled whether those consignments are fat cattle, veal calves, feeder pigs or fat hogs.

The result is LESS SHRINK.

First of all, every consignment of feeder pigs, veal calves and fat hogs is weighed upon arrival. So, with LESS SHRINK, and at present prices, this means MORE DOLLARS for you the consignor.

Secondly, all fat cattle are assigned large pens and each consignment is kept separate. With large airy pens and water available the result is LESS SHRINK.

And just one more matter of importance. — There is no waiting at the docks to unload.

What does all this add up to?

The bottom line is LESS SHRINK and more dollars to you the consignor.

"What I like about Pennfield is that they're right here to help me."

"They're just a phone call away. I like their veterinarian advice. And then there are problems that I run into that I just don't have the answer for. I think Pennfield is giving us farmers advice that is desperately needed, so I really believe that Pennfield is meeting a need in our area. With their local operation, we have access to a good laboratory to check feeds when necessary, and I'm always happy with the delivery service I get. The drivers really know what they're doing, and they always take good care of the bins. These are some of the reasons I'm involved with Pennfield. They're more than just a feed company. They're not out there just to sell you feed-they want to meet all your needs."

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

OCT. 12-18, 1981

Colder growing, leaves are blowing.

Mice will want to come into your house now . . . Robert E. Lee died Oct. 12, 1870 . . . Full moon Oct. 13 (Tues.) . . . Average length of days for the week, 11 hours, 4 minutes . . . Graf Zeppelin made first transatlantic dirigible flight this week in 1928 . . . The Old Farmer's Almanac began this week in 1792 . . . If not ruled by rudder, you will be by the rock.

Ask the Old Farmer: I have read that one can remove old tree stumps by applying buttermilk to the stumps. Can you tell me what the procedure is and does it really work? B.C., York, Pa.

We have had pickle juice, buttermilk, tobacco juice, and various other things recommended for getting rid of stumps, always by boring holes in the stumps and pouring the fluids in. We believe that the plan calls for keeping the auger holes filled with whatever is used. About it working, we mistrust it will. Prayer will also work if you have plenty of patience.

Home Hints: A coat of self-polishing wax on workshop tools will keep them free from rust and protect the cutting edges.

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Week begins cloudy and cool, then clearing; temperatures hot by weekend.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Pleasantly warm and clear most of week; end partly cloudy with showers.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Variable clouds and warming all week.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Some showers at start; alternately warm and cool temperatures; midweek is partly cloudy and warm, then clearing

The Agway DNI feeding program gives these hens the nutrients they need. And without wasting dollars.

The Agway Daily Nutrient Intake (DNI) feeding program gives your birds the nutrients they need for maximum production at the lowest possible cost. The simple and efficient DNI system prevents overfeeding of expensive protein while meeting your hens' daily requirements for amino acids and other nutrients.

Today there's no need to put more nutrients in your bins than your hens need.

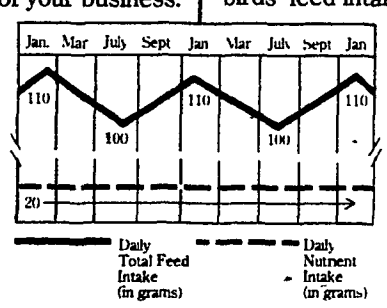
MAINTAINS A CONSTANT NUTRIENT LEVEL AS DAILY INTAKE CHANGES.

The idea behind the DNI program is simple: as feed intake varies, change feeds to avoid paying for more nutrition than your birds require.

Suppose, for example, your flock is eating 100 grams of feed per bird daily (22 lbs./100 birds). Under the DNI program, your feed would be Agway High Layer 1000.

During cold weather, when the birds moved up to 110 grams of feed daily, you'd switch to High Layer 1100+ to maintain daily nutrient intake at the required level. Paying for more protein than necessary can significantly affect the profitability of your business.

By monitoring your flock's intake, you'll know when to change feeds (such as Agway High Layer 900 when birds are eating just 90 grams of feed/day, or High Layer 1100+ when birds are consuming 110 grams of feed/day).



Even though your birds' feed intake varies seasonally, on the Agway DNI program nutrient intake remains constant provided you change feeds based on intake.

YOUR AGWAY POULTRY SPECIALIST CAN HELP SET UP A DNI PROGRAM FOR YOUR OPERATION.

Agway Poultry Enterprise specialists are available to help you set up a DNI program for your operation. You'll find that DNI is simple. All you do is watch your birds' feed intake and adjust feeds accordingly.

So contact your local Agway today for more details on the DNI program —the system that makes sure your birds get the nutrients they need . . . without wasting dollars.

Showing isn't worth it?

Have your ears been ringing lately? What you may have been hearing are the murmurs from the masses these days — whispering whether or not the public needs or wants a Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Although these little ripples may not be too disconcerting at the present time, if enough non-farm people jump onto the idea, legislative support for not only KILE but other farm shows in Pennsylvania could be wiped out.

The main argument being voiced by the non-farm undercurrents is that the public has shown it doesn't want to spend any tax dollars on KILE. People don't come out in droves to see the parade of pigs, cattle, horses, and sheep like they do at Farm Show time. It's even being said that if the show is strictly for the farmers — then let them pay for it.

Whether they realize it or not, the public needs shows like KILE and the All-American Dairy Show. Why? Because shows of this caliber bring in out-of-state exhibitors to look at and buy Pennsylvania livestock — a source of taxable income.

Shows also pit breeder against breeder, ranking the quality of livestock in the showring, and ultimately giving the producer a yardstick by which to measure improvement in a breeding program. Eventually the average citizen will benefit from all this grooming and glitter through better pork cuts, beef, and lamb (horses are still for pleasure not pot roasts, at least under U.S. standards).

Without KILE and the All-American, Pennsylvania livestock producers would have only the January Farm Show for competition in a large-scale show, and Farm Show's limited to only Pennsylvania entries. To see how their livestock would stack up against other animals around the country, Pennsylvanians would have to spend more money to take their 'prize-winners' out of state — lost revenue for the Keystone state.

Many people believe that the livestock producers contribute nothing to KILE and that the $75,000 allocated by the state legislature through the Department of Agriculture runs the whole show. Not true. The working budget of this year's KILE rang in at a $265,000 total. The difference between those two figures is made up by advertising, premium list sales, booth space, entry fees, and carcass steer sales by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association and other groups.

The All-American comes in slightly under KILE with a working budget of $150,000 and a legislative contribution of $60,000.

What would happen if suddenly the state legislature was lobbied to drop ag show fundings and allocations were cut completely for KILE and the All-American? Chances are the shows would manage to hobble through at least another year — but that struggle would probably finish them.

Like everything else, show budgets are hit with inflation and soaring prices. Premiums need to be raised in order to continue to attract exhibitors and make it worthwhile to spend hundreds of dollars on livestock insurance, shots, transportation, food, lodging, and everything else it takes to survive on the show road.

Next year's KILE is tentatively set for November 5-10, pushed back from the earlier-in-the-year scheduling of the past two years due to the "tightness of the Farm Show calendar." This time frame will line up more closely with the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky, rather than the Eastern National at Timonium and the Virginia State Fair.

Next year school children from around the Harrisburg area will have an extra day or so to pet and peek at the hundreds of farm animals that fill the Farm Show Complex during KILE. These 1,500 to 2,000 urban students who take a tour through the barns, some who have never seen a pig or cow before, leave the livestock show with a new understanding or at least a curiosity about these animals and the farming way of life.

And what about those 4-H and FFA students who come to the All-American and KILE to participate in judging contests? Where else could they travel for such a short distance and have assembled around them an equally top-notch group of animals for their evaluation?

Yes, we still need livestock shows in Pennsylvania even if we can't draw the crowds that stream into those fabulous shows out West. Promoting our livestock and dairy industries, two of our Commonwealth's most important revenue resources, is well worth the investment for all Pennsylvanians.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

OUR OWN SOUR GRAPES
October 11, 1981

Background Scriptures:
Jeremiah 30 through 31.
Devotional Reading:
John 6:41-51.

Stop and think for a moment—maybe it won't take you very long with this question: "Who most of all is responsible for the mess we're in today?"

What "mess"? Just pick up your daily newspaper and there are seemingly endless possibilities. You can probably tick them off without any prompting at all. Your list won't be exactly the same as mine, but there will be a lot of similarities, I'm sure. Nor will all of us ever agree on who are the culprits. For some of us, it's the ultra-rightists in the world; for others, it's the leftists and "pinkos." Others see Big Business as the bogeyman, while others point the finger at Big Labor. The list of villains is almost as long as the catalogue of messes we attribute to them, but usually each of us has a favorite culprit: "Everything would be a lot better in this world (community, business, nation, etc.) if we could do something about the (you fill-in the blank).

THE CHILDREN'S TEETH ON EDGE

The prophet Jeremiah was aware of this scapegoating tendency in human nature and he recalled an old saying:

"The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge." (31:29).

We still feel that way today, don't we; someone else, some villain, has done something evil and we are the ones who are made to pay for it. But Jeremiah knew that old saying to be self-deception and the time had come for the people of Israel to stop pushing the blame on someone else for the messes in which they found themselves: "But every man shall die for his own sin; each man who eats sour grapes, his teeth shall be set on edge" (30:30). If in our family, our job, our community, our nation, our world we are having to eat sour grapes, they are OUR sour grapes. Yes, the Communists are godless and the ultra-rightists are fascists; yes, Big Business may be ruthless and Big Labor may be corrupt; the Democrats are generous with other people's money and the Republicans are generous with nothing—but if the world is not what God created it to be we are the ones who are responsible. Get rid of all those villains today and the world will still be messed-up tomorrow.

THEY SHALL ALL KNOW ME

The key to our situation or situations is not to be found in our parties, our ideologies, our institutions, or even our leaders. The key is in the nature of humanity. If you and I could make a list and get God to get rid of all those sinners right now, we would not have gotten rid of sin, for we carry that within us.

But to recognize our own sour grapes is not to ordain dispair, but hope. God still promises us in this imperfect world: "I will forgive their iniquity and I will remember their sin no more" (30:34). Because he is God and despite the fact that we are human, God can still counsel hope; the day will come when "They shall all know me, from the least to the greatest," says the Lord.

Clear water?

I am writing to clarify some misstatements, if not in fact false statements, in the October 3, 1981 editorial, "Who needs a water bill?"

The editorial states, "HB 1483 calls for monitoring the consumption of volume users to insure they don't drain and strain the short supply."

That is not a true statement. HB 1483 states, Page 10 line 30, "The State Water Plan shall include: (1) A complete inventory of the water resources of this Commonwealth

To Utilize Corn Fodder

Corn growers who are not making the crop into silage might consider the making of corn stalks into bedding material. The market value of all livestock bedding is quite high, and can be used on the farm or sold to others. After the corn is picked and the stalks dry, the corn can be shredded and baled.

This material makes very good bedding for box stalls and feed lot pens; the fodder absorbs water rapidly and when shredded gives less trouble in mechanical handling. When used on the farm as bedding, it can still be returned to the soil as added organic matter.

To Keep Pigs Warm

The extremely cold weather the past three winters has resulted in high pig losses in many feed lots. Most farrowing operations have supplemental heat in the building to keep the baby pigs warm. However, when they are sold to the fattening operation, they often do not have warm enough quarters.

We urge that feeders be sure the pigs are comfortable; when they pile up in cold weather, they are too cold. Some of the things that can be done to keep them warm is to insulate sidewalls, use solid partitions and use hovers over their sleeping quarters.

Cold pigs mean respiratory and digestive troubles. When they are warm enough they will spread out in the sleeping area. Check the temperature down at floor level, not at man-high level.

including an assessment of their reliable yeilds.."

Pennsylvanians now have inherent Constitutional Rights to certain water on their property under 'Common law' and riparian rights that would be abrogated by HB 1483. These rights would be replaced with permits issued by bureaucrats.

The editorial says, "this however is not such a great threat to the freedoms farmers and homeowners now take for granted."

The whole insidious purpose of HB 1483 is to take away the right of homeowners to their water without permission from the "STATE."

The editorial says "HB 1483 does set up stringent rules for anyone using more than 10,000 gallons of water each day."

This is a false or half truth propagated by the bill's author and those proponents who haven't read or care to ignore the real intent of HB 1483. For example, the author of HB 1483 very cleverly and succinctly delineates that there shall be no limits to the power the legislature shall lay on the "board." Throughout the bill the phrase "plans and regulations may include but shall not be limited to" the following.

So it is with the 10,000 gallon 'permit reference.' Page 27 lines 17 and 18 specifically state that the 'regulations' shall not be limited to the specific section covering the 10,000 gallon limit.

The whole controversy over HB 1483 rests solely on the philosophy of Socialism versus Americanism. I and the thousands of Pennsylvanians who have responded to my letter and advertisements choose Americanism. We choose individual freedom over state's rights.

And, what about the sponsors of HB 1483? To the best of my knowledge, not a single sponsor has stated flat out that he or she read the bill before allowing their names to be used as sponsors.

And, what about the sponsors who quickly removed their names when confronted with the confiscatory language of the bill? Do you write them off as not understanding the merits of HB 1483?

As a matter of fact, I have not seen a single response from a legislator, including the prime sponsor, which does not say that the bill must and will be amended to remove many if not all of the blatant powers and dangers referred to in my letter. One representative said "he will fight the legislation tooth and nail if sweeping changes are not made in it."

HB 1483 is the very antithesis of our Bill of Rights — it rejects and transgresses the very cause of freedon for which thousands of Americans have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Andrew J. Watson
Harrisburg, PA.

Editor's note: Quoting from HB 1483, page 15, lines 2-10, "In order to provide accurate information as a basis of future water planning, the board (Environmental Quality Board) may by regulation establish requirements for: (1) The registration of existing and new ground or surface water withdrawals which equal or exceed an average rate of 10,000 gallons per day in any 30-day period; (2) The maintenance of records and submission of periodic reports on actual water withdrawals and uses by persons responsible for withdrawals subject to registration;" and page 20, lines 7-15 "Limitation on withdrawals and rights — where the department (D.E.R.) finds that the quality of existing withdrawals exceeds the reliable yield of the affected water resources or that water rights held by two or more public water supply agencies are otherwise in conflict, the department may require adjustments in the quantities withdrawn, condition withdrawals and modify the water rights as necessary to assure that the water resources are equitably shared and efficiently used in the public interest."

The bill states on page 10, line 30 that the State Water Plan shall include: "A complete inventory of the water resources of this Commonwealth including an assessment of their reliable yields for instream and withdrawal uses during periods of drought."

The national theme "4-H Pathways to the Future" is an appropriate and challenging one. Four-H has provided an important pathway for many youth.

Beware of Spiny Pigweed in Pastures

Redroot or redroot pigweed is a common, easily recognized annual weed of gardens and cultivated fields. We are now seeing a first cousin of this weed - spiny redroot - appearing in many areas of the county, points out Arnold Lueck, Agronomy-Horticultural Agent.

If you do not know what the spiny redroot looks like, you can sure tell real quickly what it feels like by carefully rubbing your fingers along the stem. Two needle-sharp spines occur at the juncture of each leaf with the stem.—These spines prevent all grazing animals from eating these plants. Consequently, we are seeing tremendous numbers of these weeds appearing in many upland pastures along cow paths, in open spaces or loafing areas. Some have been found in alfalfa fields, a bad situation. These weeds now have mostly red stems and can easily be spotted.

CONTROL. Use Banvel or any of the 2,4-D type herbicides. Apply when the plants are small. This would be just about the time in May when corn planting time is over or very soon thereafter. The important thing is to spray the pasture. A second application to kill late appearing weed seedlings would likely be needed.

This pigweed in pasture needs attention or we will continue to lose valuable grass space.

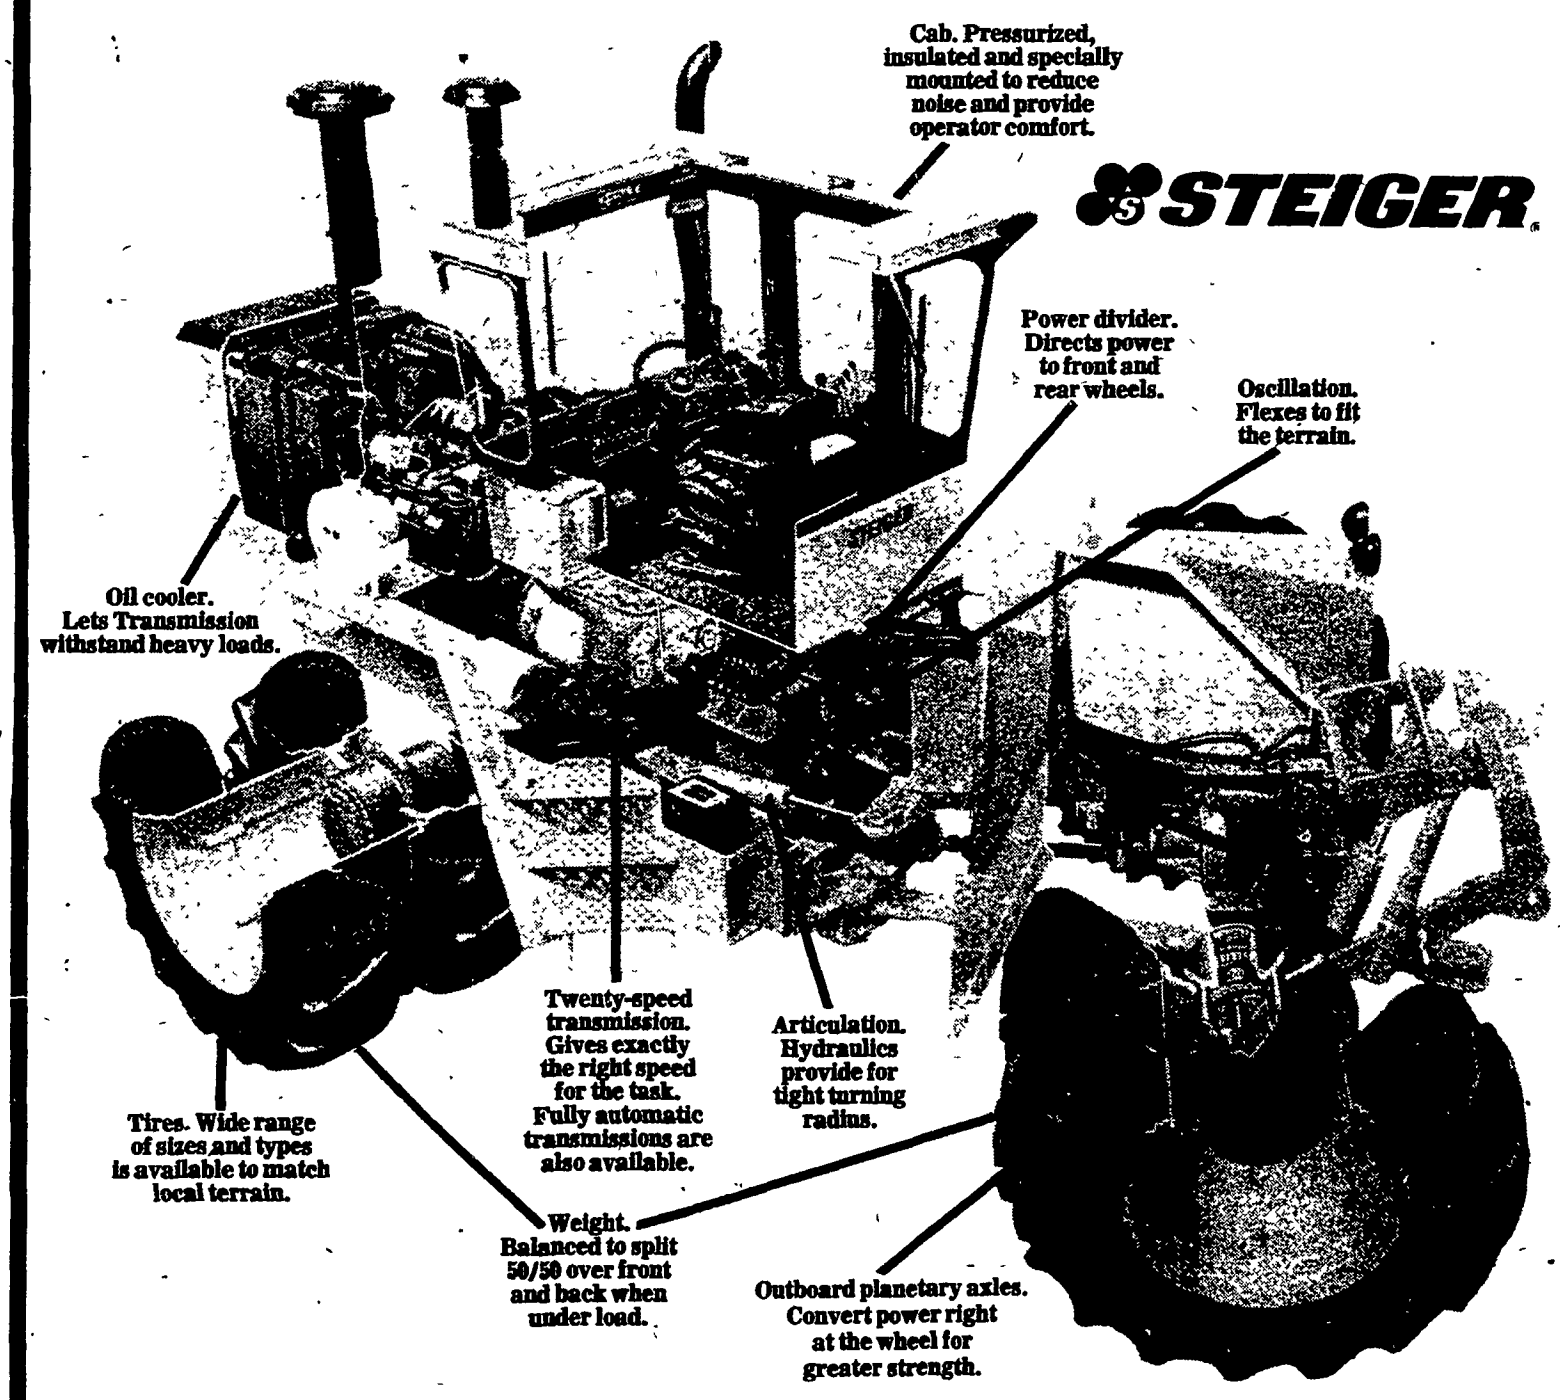
COMPARE STEIGER AGAINST THE COMPETITION

AT HOOBER'S FIELD DAYS - OCTOBER 14 and 21

For Further Details See Our Ad On Page C21

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN A FOUR WHEEL DRIVE:



Cab. Pressurized, insulated and specially mounted to reduce noise and provide operator comfort.
STEIGER
Power divider. Directs power to front and rear wheels.
Oscillation. Flexes to fit the terrain.
Oil cooler. Lets Transmission withstand heavy loads.
Twenty-speed transmission. Gives exactly the right speed for the task. Fully automatic transmissions are also available.
Articulation. Hydraulics provide for tight turning radius.
Tires. Wide range of sizes and types is available to match local terrain.
Weight. Balanced to split 50/50 over front and back when under load.
Outboard planetary axles. Convert power right at the wheel for greater strength.

THE KEYS TO COMPARING 4WD TRACTORS.

Drawbar horsepower. The most basic criterion is how much can it pull, as measured in horsepower at the drawbar This is more important than engine horsepower because the drawbar is the working end of the tractor

Cost per drawbar horsepower. This is the real way to measure what you're getting for the money. Just divide the cost by the tested drawbar horsepower and you've got a figure you can use to compare all makes and types of tractors

Fuel consumption. How much work can the machine squeeze out of a gallon of diesel fuel? While many people gauge fuel efficiency by gallons per hour, this is not the the best measurement. The best way: amount of work per gallon, or more scientifically, horsepower hours/gallon

Drive train ratio. Divide the drawbar horsepower by engine horsepower. The result, expressed as a percentage, indicates how much power is actually available to do work at the drawbar

Weight to horsepower. Generally speaking, the higher the weight to horsepower ratio, the more power the tractor will ultimately deliver You might ask, "why doesn't everyone build them real heavy?" The answer the cost of steel But, like in everything else, you can find quality if you look for it

Noise. All manufacturers have a decibel rating on their cabs One Steiger four-wheel-drive has been proven to be as quiet as 75.5 decibels under full power and load. That's about as quiet as a pick-up truck A quiet tractor reduces operator fatigue, improves productivity

Reaganomics figures into Manheim beef show

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

MANHEIM — Reaganomics played a role in the Baby Beef Show at the Manheim Fair Tuesday night.

When the 4-H winner, a 1235-pound roan and white cross out of a Charolais-Angus cow and a Maine-Anjou bull, was pitted against a 1310-pound yellowy-beige behemoth that mixed Charolais with Chianina, judge Dan Loy, Penn State grad student and coach of the livestock judging team, went to the smaller, stockier animal.

The roan and white was shown by 15-year-old Lori Good, daughter of Paul and Vera Good, 795 W. Lexington Rd., Lititz R6.

The FFA champion animal, the big yellow, was shown by Barry Geib, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Geib, R4, Manheim, who captured his fourth straight FFA title.

"The big yellow animal presents a problem for me," judge Loy remarked.

"He has the most of everything – frame size and muscle.

"But with interest rates where they are today, these animals are just too big to finish.

"Therefore, I must go to the smaller 4-H animal.

Lori, who got her steer from Carl Herr, of Lampeter, calls him "Benson." (He does have some Angus blood.)

Lori will show him at the County Roundup on November 9 and then must make a decision whether to market him or possibly shrink him for the Farm Show.

Lori is the fourth Good 4-H'er to compete. Her older sister and two brothers preceded her in 4-H, raising their projects on the family's 100-acre hog and steer farm.

"My sister helped me get started two years ago, but this year I was all on my own," Lori explained.

Her previous high finishes were class seconds at county fairs and the Farm Show. This was her first champion.

"There are going to be a few tears when he finally must go," she added.

Local breeders take Chianina championships

HARRISBURG — Three of the four grand champion plaques in Monday's Chianina show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition went to local breeders.

In the female competition, Dwayne Messick of Elizabethtown led his April 1980 heifer to the top of her class before being tagged by Judge Gary Minish of VPI as senior and grand champion heifer.

Messick's heifer, dubbed Blue Sky Princess 11480, is a Blue Sky Jet Set daughter out of TOF Miss Dolly 5758.

A half-sister to the grand champion, Jet Set's Candy Girl, was exhibited by Messick in the first class of Chianina heifer calves. This April 1981 heifer stood second. Messick's junior bull entry, MF Mr. Starmaker, a Friggio son, placed second to neighboring Joseph Messick's MF Jet Set's Dynamo. Dynamo went on to be tagged junior champion before taking the grand championship of the Chianina competition.

The grand champion bull is a Blue Sky Jet Set son out of Ms Lombard Lauxmont A724. Joseph Messick is a young cattleman from Middletown, Dauphin County. He also exhibited the reserve senior champion heifer, MF Jet Sets Fancy, an April 1980 heifer by Blue Sky Jet Set.

Still another Dauphin County Chianina breeder claimed one of the championships at Monday's show. James Foreman, Hershey, showed his October 1980 bull to the calf championship and on to reserve grand honors. Foreman's Berney is an Advance Copy son out of Foremans Miss Choclate.

Berks County's Kénianne Rarick placed well in competition, too. Her junior bull, KRF Iggy S72154, was the reserve calf champion. And stablemate KRF Samantha won a blue ribbon for the young cattle producer.

Royal Charolais sweeps KILE competition

HARRISBURG — It was almost another clean sweep of champion honors for Royal Charolais, one of the leading Charolais beef cattle breeders in the nation, during the Monday showing of the big, white breed here at KILE.

The Westmoreland County farm claimed the grand champion plaques for both the heifer and bull competition, along with the reserve grand champion bull honors. They also had senior champion, junior champion, reserve junior champion in the female division, and senior champion and junior and reserve junior champion bull, plus all the group awards.

All their winnings earned the western Pennsylvania farm the honors of Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor.

The grand champion female was RCC Royal Temptress 3377, a late summer yearling heifer who was tagged senior champion by Judge Gary Minish of VPI. This July 1980 daughter of HCR Expectation 269 is out of a Royal cow, RCC Royal Rockette 2063.

The grand champion heifer was co-exhibited by Royal and Misasu Corporation, Greensburg.

Royal's senior heifer calf and junior heifer calf entries stood at the top of their classes and took junior and reserve junior champion rosettes, respectively. RCC Royal Temptress 3406, a September 1980 daughter of Expectation, was tagged junior champ while stablemate RCC Royal Temptress 3467, a January 1981 heifer sired by the Expectation bull, followed as reserve.

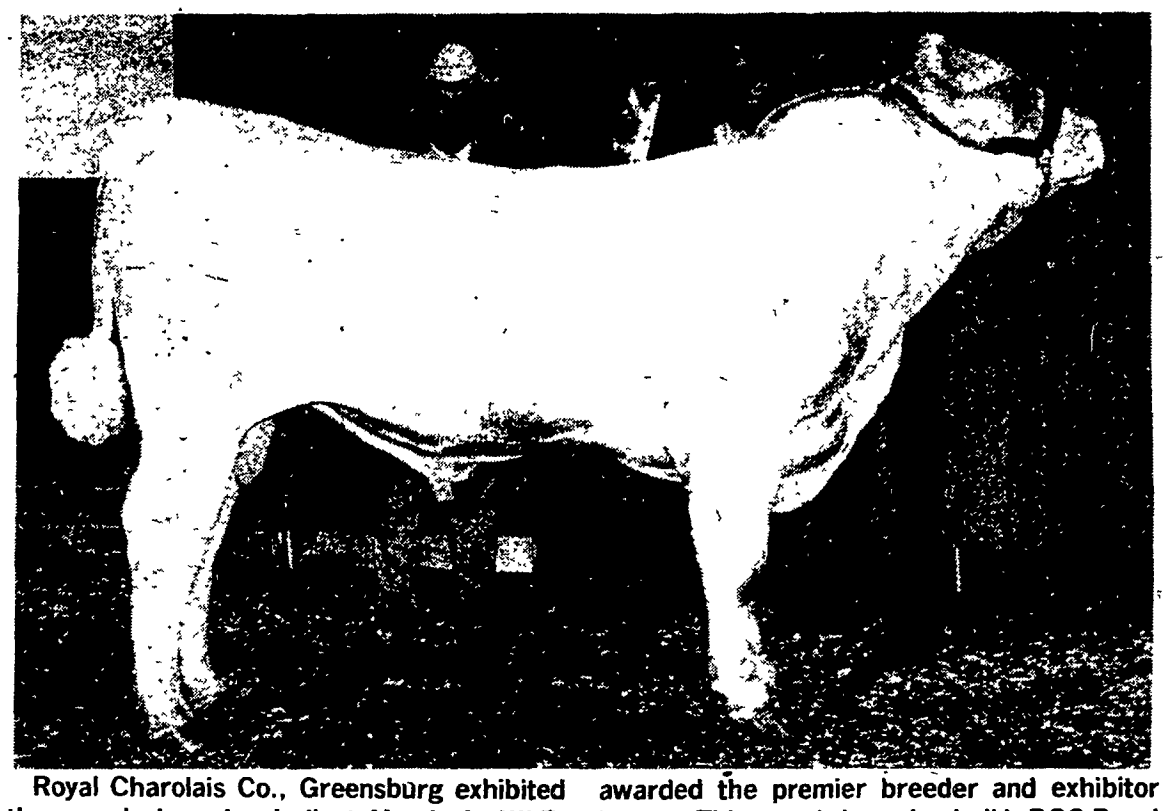
The grand champion bull of the Charolais show was Royal's summer senior yearling entry, RCC Royal Constructor I. This Expectation son also was tagged senior champion of the show.

Royal Charolais Co. teamed up with Hibbert Charolais and Flint Hills Charolais to show the reserve grand champion bull, RCC Vindicator 3262. This April 1980 son of Expectation was the show's junior champ.

As his name would imply, RCC Mr. Expectation 3298 was not to be left out when it came to Expectation get winning awards at this year's KILE. This summer yearling bull entry of Bratton Charolais and Royal Charolais Co. earned the reserve junior champion title.

Although no longer owned by Royal Charolais, another RCC prefix showed up on the reserve calf champion bull. RCC Mr. Expectation 3388, a September 1980 calf, is owned by Carolyn and Earl H. Clutter of Prosperity, Washington County.

The reserve grand champion Charolais female was exhibited by James L. Smith of Little Rock, Arkansas and Malcolm Commer of Jonestown, Mississippi. Their entry, FF MS Fairfield 391 Polled, a summer yearling, was the reserve senior champion female.



Royal Charolais Co., Greensburg exhibited the grand champion bull at Monday's KILE. The western Pennsylvania Charolais farm swept the show championships and was awarded the premier breeder and exhibitor honors. This grand champion bull is RCC Royal Constructor. Judge for the show was VPI's Gary Minish, left.

The champion Charolais calf title went to CCC Havoc's Superman, a senior bull calf shown by Doris Bell of Cooksville, Maryland.

Arkansas' Sandra Williams reigns a

Kathy Solenberger, the 1981 Apple Queen USA enjoys an apple at the South Mountain Fairgrounds last Friday on her last day as the reigning national queen.

BY M.H. GITT
Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG — Sandra Kay Williams, the Arkansas Apple Queen was chosen Miss Apple Queen USA for 1982 at the Apple Harvest Ball sponsored by the Adams County Fruit Growers Association with the Gettysburg Area of Commerce coordinating the program.

The five-foot five-inch blonde native of Jacksonville, Arkansas was selected from 11 other contestants from as far away as California. First runner-up was Heather Lee Staubach, of York, Pennsylvania, and the second runner-up was Lorraine Ann Hays, the Ohio State Apple Queen who was also chosen "Miss Congeniality" by the other queens.

After receiving the crown and banner from departing queen Kathy Solenberger, Sandra noted, "I'm excited, a little fearful, and anxious. I'm excited to be chosen Miss Apple Queen USA, I'm a little fearful of what's lying ahead, but I'm anxious for it to start."

The 20 year old "apple of the judge's eyes" is a junior at the University of Central Arkansas where she is studying dental hygiene and occupational therapy. Sandra is the state's first queen not raised on an apple farm and the first young woman from Arkansas to win the national title.

Earlier in the day, the queens strolled the South Mountain Fairgrounds and helped at various exhibits at the Apple Harvest Festival which is sponsored by the Upper Adams County Jaycees and the Gettysburg Travel Council. Sandra worked at the apple butter booth lending a hand to stir and mix.

When asked to compare this festival with the one back home, the new queen stated, "This one is a lot bigger and better and the people are really friendly." The main reason for the size difference is that the entire state of Arkansas produces less than one million bushels of apples, while Adams County produces five times that much.

Originally the festival was set up to promote the apple industry, which is the biggest employer in the county. It has been run by the Jaycees with proceeds going to finance services sponsored by the organization. The Jaycees also started the national apple queen contest and ball, but this competition was taken over by the fruit growers last year.

Over 400 people attended the ball and contest Saturday evening, and 10,000 people attended the festival on Saturday and another 12,000 on Sunday. According to Ron Bennent, chairman for the Apple Harvest Committee, Saturday was the best opening day they have ever had and the record for the two weekend affair was over 40,000 in 1976. With business from as far away as Maine and Massachusetts, the sponsors are looking for a record crowd on this their second weekend. Tourists can tour orchards in the area, watch fresh cider being pressed, take rides drawn by an old steam tractor, be entertained by musicians or square dancers, investigate hundreds of craft items and feast on apple 'eats' ranging from pancakes to candy.

Visitors weren't the only ones impressed with the festival. Michigan State Apple Queen Paulette Dongvillo, whose parents farm a 200-acre fruit orchard, found, "Adams County so nice and the people so friendly." Jacquelyn Jester, the Western New York Apple queen, said, "I just love it all. The whole festival is wonderful."

Helping to make the festival a success were the "delightful dozen" state apple queens. Heather Staubach, First Runner-up, from Pennsylvania, is a junior at Penn State majoring in microbiology; Lorraine Hays of Columbia, Ohio is a freshman at Kent State University majoring in business administration; Delaware Apple Queen Melinda Priestley is a freshman at Wesley College majoring in special education; Virginia Apple Queen Gretel Godwin, is a freshman at Mary Baldwin College majoring in communications; Marjorie Smith, the Eastern New York State Apple queen will be entering Columbia-Greene Community College to study data processing; North Carolina Apple Queen Ina Miller is an executive secretary for an engineering firm; Mary Hockman, the West Virginia Apple Queen is a sophomore at Mary Baldwin College where she is majoring in pre-law; California Apple Queen Tamara Newman is a freshman at Santa Rosa Junior College, where she is studying business; the Maryland Apple Queen, Joanne Foster is a senior at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland where she is majoring in photography; Michigan Apple Queen Paulette Dongvillo is attending Lake Michigan College where she is studying secretarial science; and Western New York State Apple queen Jacquelyn Jester is a senior at R.L. Thomas High School and hopes to go into the entertainment industry as a performer.

Before the winners in the 13th annual Miss Apple Queen USA contest were announced, the outgoing queen Kathy Solenberger of Winchester, Virginia, gave a farewell speech in which she declared, "It was a really great year and it was exciting to be Miss Apple Queen USA, representing the apple industry." One of her most exciting experiences was "meeting people especially celebrities like Hal Linden." She said she was "very happy to be the queen" and called this year's contestants, "professional apple queens."

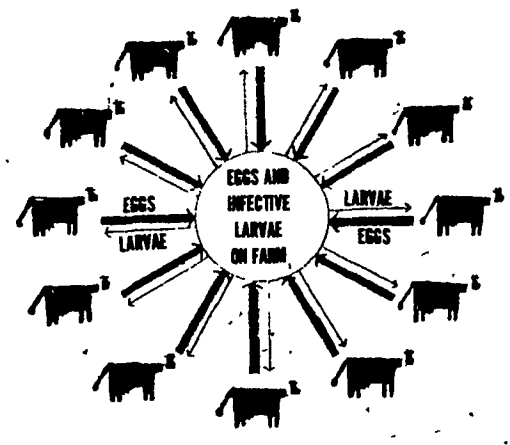
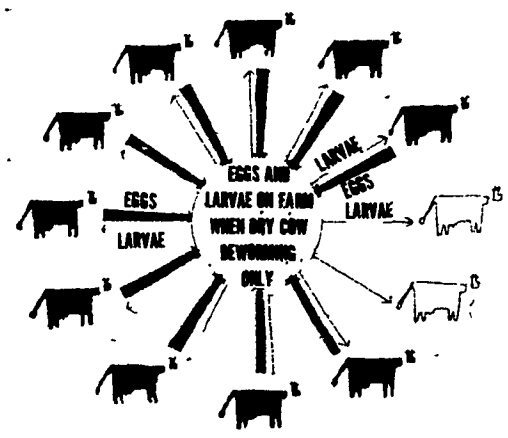
Do you try to control weeds in your corn field by spraying only two rows out of twelve?
Do you try to control flies by treating cows only at freshening time?
Do you still try to control cattle on your farm by treating cows only at freshening time?

THE LOGIC BEHIND WHOLE HERD DEWORMING

In an unwormed dairy herd, all animals deposit worm eggs on the farm and all animals are subject to further recontamination from infective larvae as herd parasitism continues unchecked.





In a herd dewormed only at freshening, an average of 10 out of 12 animals have not been dewormed. Because egg deposition has not been significantly reduced, and because of infective larvae already present on the farm, all animals are subject to heavy further recontamination.

After whole herd deworming with Baymix, egg deposition is dramatically reduced, and as a result herd recontamination is also significantly reduced with herd productive efficiency maintained. In fact, a recent study shows a benefit of 4.8 lbs./milk/cow/day average when cows are dewormed as late as 200 days into lactation despite the fact they were dewormed at freshening.

Polled Herefords gear-up for North American

BY DONNA TOMMELLEO

TIMONIUM, Md. — On the last leg of the show circuit before the North American International Livestock Expo at Louisville, Ky., Polled Hereford breeders east of the Mississippi exhibited their top animals, Thursday, at the Eastern National Livestock Show at the Timonium Fairgrounds.

"This has been a real high quality show—especially the champions, which are outstanding," commented show judge Jim Gillooly.

Gillooly, an Angus and Hereford breeder from Washington, Indiana, went with ASB BO TEN for grand champion female. The top honor was just another notch in the win column for owners Greg Billing and Overlook Farm, Little Falls, N.Y.

Throughout this show season the grand champ, a 21-month-old heifer, picked up three reserve champ honors. Last week she was tapped as reserve champ at the Keystone International at Harrisburg, a repeat performance of the Junior National Show in Kansas. The Will Via Justa V daughter was also the reserve calf champ at the National Polled Hereford Show in Denver.

The top heifer is currently bred to S. Gilead 115, the 1977 national reserve champion.

A 2½-year-old Enforcer 107H son was named Grand Champion. FLF Masterpiece, owned by Falklands Farms and Busby Farm, Schellsburg, carried an impressive string of victories into the winner's circle.

FLF Masterpiece captured Grand Champion honors at the Ohio State and Virginia State fairs. More recently the bull was named reserve grand champion of the Keystone International.

In addition to several individual class blue ribbons, Falklands Farm and co-owners claimed five champions by the day's end.

Their first champion arrived in the form of a heifer calf, sired by Enforcer. FLF Forcette 1003, a January 1981 calf, was dubbed champion heifer calf.

Judge Gillooly chose a Falklands yearling heifer as junior champion heifer. The junior champ, FLF Forcette 0067 bested more than 45 entires for the title. Falklands Farm took Reserve Senior Champion honors with their 2-year-old heifer, FLF Forcette 950.

The yearling is owned by Falklands Farm, Jim and Moe Barrington, Double NN-S Polled Herefords and Quail Run Ranch.

Gillooly selected a BCR Improver daughter, EVF Ms Wind Chill as reserve champion heifer calf. The reserve champ, a September 1980 calf is owned by Stephanie Earnhart, Leetonia, Ohio.

Pride and Joy, a September 1980 calf captured Champion Bull calf honors. The Will Via Justa V son is owned by Ace Polled Herefords, G&R Polled Herefords, Donald Riffel & Family and Sheridge Associates, Millbrook, N.Y.

Reserve Champion Bull Calf honors went to RTA Trustee Vix 536, a February 1981 calf owned by R&T Acres, Gaithersburg, Md.

Gillooly went with Dunwalke Vicky 46M, owned by Michael Cummings, Westminster, Md., as reserve junior champion heifer.

Corn growers urge quick passage of Farm Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "The House of Representatives should follow the example of the U.S. Senate in considering and completing its work on general farm legislation to replace the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act," the NCGA President Bill Mullins recently stated in a letter to Mr. E. De La Garza, Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture.

In pressing for immediate House of Representatives action on general farm legislation, the NCGA farmer-president from Shabbona, Illinois, cited the impact that high interest rates and persistent inflation have had on U.S. corn farmers. While not completely satisfied with the Senate version of farm legislation, Bill Mullins stressed that a "realistic, workable and significant farm bill must be reached within the next few days to continue the authorities for establishing loan rates, target prices, grain reserves and other measures to arrest any further declines in U.S. corn and agricultural prices."

The National Corn Growers urged De La Garza and other members of the House Committee on Agriculture to work with the U.S. Senate in accepting realistic, workable and significant loan rates and target price measures and report a farm bill to President Reagan for signature into law.

Mullins stated that "...this course of action would allow the Secretary of Agriculture to move ahead with confidence in implementing the following programs for corn," which should include:

- Immediate and early entry of 1981 corn into a farmer-held reserve not to exceed one billion bushels.
- A two "trigger release" system, established at 140 percent and 170 percent of the prevailing loan rate, respectively, in order to provide greater farmer flexibility in marketing corn.
- Authorize at least 30 cents per bushel annual storage payment.
- In order to attract sufficient corn farmer participation, establish a supplemental 1981 reserve corn loan rate at a significantly higher level than the regular loan rate.

"Having these measures in place now would allow corn farmers to complete 1981 harvest with some certainty of loan rates and target price level measures commensurate with the prevailing cost of production for corn," Mullins concluded.

Jack Parsons, NCGA First Vice President and corn farmer from Wapello, Iowa, stated "in order to arrest any further declines in cash corn prices, the levels of which have dropped to around $2 per bushel in select locations in the Midwest, and to minimize federal expenditures and continued budget exposure in Fiscal Year 1981/82, the immediate opening of a farmer-held reserve for corn is necessary.

This decision by Secretary Block could prove to be a pivotal factor in beginning the recovery of farm prices from current levels unacceptable to U.S. corn farmers."

Parsons indicated that thousands of bushels of corn under loan in midwestern states have ben forfeited to the Commodity Credit Corporation, and that additional large quantities of corn are anticipated to be turned over to CCC ownership in the very near future.

"If these developments continue, it is very conceivable that stocks of CCC owned corn could well soar to over 500 million bushels in the immediate future," he stated.

The NCGA official indicated that "...any hesitation in announcing the opening of the reserve due to the belief that such action would result in increased and unnecessary exposure to the federal budget in 1981/82 is unwarranted."

In addition to the prospect of expanded CCC ownership of grain, he commented that the revenues lost from interest payments due to defaulted loans and the excessive costs incurred by the U.S. Government in transporting and storing previously farmer-owned grain would certainly result in overall costs exceeding those resulting from the establishment of a farmer-held reserve.

"It is, therefore, illogical to further withhold an announcement on the opening of a farmer-held reserve for immediate and early entry of 1981 crop corn on the basis that economic pressures warrant further consideration."

WATER WAR RAGES

Re: House bill #1483
Printer's #1723

Fellow Pennsylvanians:

House bill 1483 is a dangerous infringement on the FREEDOM AND PROPERTY RIGHTS of all citizens of the Commonwealth. You should request a free copy from your representative.

HB 1483 provides for another TAX on your right to drink water from your own well or spring. Page 40 line 10.

HB 1483 confiscates your rights to all water on your own land. The bill says:

The water resources of this Commonwealth are public natural resources held in trust by the Commonwealth for the benefit of all the people. Page 7 line 18

Fellow American, that is right out of the Communist manifesto. That is the doctrine of HITLER-MARX-CASTRO-MAO...IT IS NOT PART OF THE BILL OF RIGHTS or of THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION.

It is not the doctrine of WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON or WILLIAM PENN.

While you read this sentence someone is dying trying to escape the tyranny proposed for all Pennsylvanians by HB 1483.

HB 1483 provides the right of EMINENT DOMAIN for not only a bureaucracy of the Commonwealth but for certain public utilities-the right to CONFISCATE the water from your well, even after you paid for a permit. Page 36 Line 1-17

HB 1483 provides, "duly authorized agents...are authorized at all reasonable times to enter and examine any property," "The owner shall give the agents...free and unrestricted entry and access." Page 42 lines 21-30. "Upon refusal to grant entry or access, the agent or employee may obtain a search warrant..." Page 43 lines 1-3.

How does a search warrant work? State police gave the following account:

Sunday at 10:30 a.m., members of the Troop obtained a search warrant to search the residence.

At 11 a.m. the warrant was served by 15 troopers aided by Twp. Police Chief.

HB 1483 provides for the interconnection of YOUR well with others. Page 27 line 29.

I am not suggesting that those members of the House who introduced HB 1483 are communists or communist agents. I am suggesting that they have not read the bill. I am suggesting that every member of the House examine the bill and the effects it will have on the FREEDOM of ALL PENNSYLVANIANS.

The bill was introduced by: Bittle, Kowalyshyn, Geist, Lashinger, ~~Noye~~, Burd, Gannon, Cessar, Cole, Cappabianca, Wass, Michlovic, Steighner, Stewart, Letterman, Greenwood, Itkin, Kanuck, McCall, J.L. Wright, Snyder, Gruppo, Siemenski, Arty, Gladeck, Davies, ~~Manmiller~~, Boyes, Reber, Nahill, Swift, Burns, Belfanti, Rybak, W.W. Foster, Zwikl, Heiser, Moehlmann, ~~Sirianni~~, Saurman, Cornell and Hagarty on June 2, 1981.

Rep. Bittle said, "Watson doesn't understand the bill."

Rep. Manmiller said, "Once other legislators realize the full implications of the proposed bill, I'm sure many of them will be withdrawing their names as sponsors."

Rep. Sirianni said, "My name was removed from HB 1483. As far as I am concerned, their (DER) regulations in the past have proven to be without common sense and I would not trust them to do a better job now."

Rep. Noye, Majority Caucus Chairman said, "I have notified the Majority Leader to remove my name as a sponsor of HB 1483. After reviewing this bill, I have found that it is not in the best interests to the people of the Commonwealth."

Rep. Samuel E. Hayes, Jr., Majority Leader, in a note to Rep. Sirianni said, "This is a bad bill. People would not have control over their own water. Good idea to have your name removed."

Sobering thoughts for all Pennsylvanians.

NO ONE CAN SUPPORT THE CONSTITUTION AND THIS LEGISLATION.

You are the most important soldier in this war. You MUST write your Representative, ask for a free copy of HB 1483, give him your opinion and ask for his.

This battle is just beginning-gird up your loins.

Sincerely,

Andrew J. Watson

Strauss shows 'almost didn't' gilt champion

BY SHEILA MILLER

MANHEIM — In one of the last shows of his FFA career, twenty-one-year-old Steve Strauss, R1 Ephrata, captured both the champion and reserve champion market hog honors during Monday evening's Manheim Farm Show.

Strauss, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strauss and a member of the Cloister FFA Chapter, exhibited his homebred crossbred hogs before the critical eye of show judge Abe Fisher, Kinzers.

On selecting the stablemates for the top two honors, Fisher commented that he "liked the finish on the crossbred" and praised its muscling and depth of front shoulder. He described Strauss' reserve champion as "a practical pig with lean muscling."

Strauss explained that both champs were sired by a Hampshire boar and were out of York x Duroc x Landrace sows. The boar was purchased by Steve and his two older brothers Rick, 22, and Robert, 25, from a Taneytown, Maryland hog producer, Frank Feeser.

This boar has been siring a winning litter for the Strauss brothers who each keep 10 to 12 crossbred sows on their parents' farm. Just one day before the Manheim show, Steve showed a barrow out of the Manheim champ's litter to the championship of the Junior Crossbred Barrow show at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The hog then was tagged reserve champion in the Open Crossbred Barrow show at KILE.

It can't be said that the boar should be given all the credit for the champion ribbons awarded to his offspring — Strauss' sow also farrowed the champion and reserve champion barrows, on the rail, at last year's KILE.

This winning combination might prove to be the winning ticket for Strauss during next year's Open show competition because he's bred his sow back to the champion-producing Hampshire boar that sired this year's Manheim winners.

Looking over his two prize gilts, Strauss smiled and confessed, "And to think I almost didn't bring the champion to Manheim. I almost kept her home to breed."

One consultation, Steve — there's more on the way.

Ephrata's Steve Strauss proudly poses with his two champion market hogs after Judge Abe Fisher's decision at Monday's Manheim show. Strauss confessed he almost didn't bring the champion, foreground, to the show. The reserve champion, right, was more interested in chow than the spotlight.

mittee within two or three weeks. It would then be entered on the House calendar for consideration by the complete assembly.

HB 1483, which has raised some eyebrows and questions concerning the state's efforts to gain control over the Commonwealth's water supplies, is still before the Conservation Committee, pending amendments and a vote. PFA has testified against this bill and the State Grange has remained non-committal until after its October annual meeting.

Shawn Charles, 17, of R2 Lancaster, exhibited the champion pair. Charles is a senior at Penn Manor and a member of the Manor Chapter of FFA. He bought this pair of Hampshire crossbreds from Brook Manor Farm where he works during summer vacation.

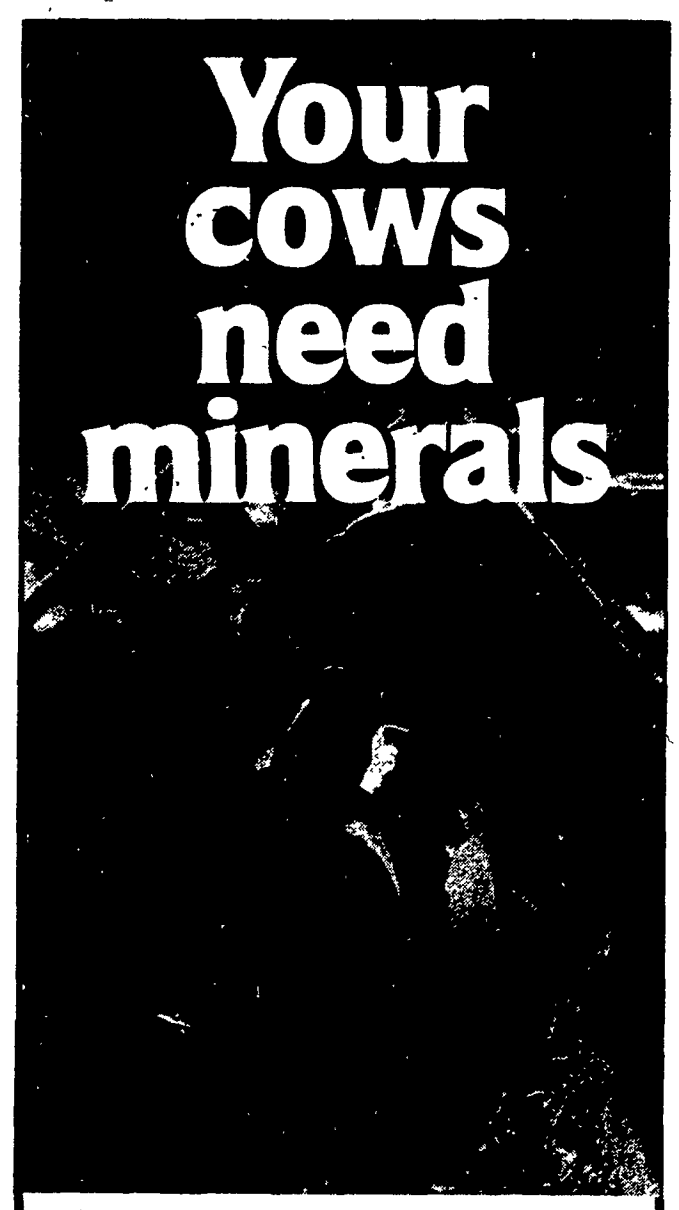
Your cows need minerals



...because a cow needs a total of 17 different minerals in the proper ratios and at the right levels to maintain peak milk production. The absence of just one of these 17 minerals will significantly affect milk production, digestion, performance and breeding efficiency.

Your cows need our minerals

. . because one of our 13 specially-formulated mixes is likely to complement your feeding program .. because our mixes are the only ones which contain our exclusive blend of alkaline-buffered mineral ingredients. If none of our Cattle Special mixes fits your specific feeding program, we can customize the mineral mix you need.

How? By offering a forage analysis service plus a complete feeding program recommendation. With ISF Alkaline-Buffered Cattle Specials you can put your herd on a proven and profitable mineral supplement program which can improve production, breeding efficiency, performance and digestion.

Messicks capture Simmental championships

HARRISBURG — Sarah Anne and Joseph Messick of Middletown left the Keystone International Livestock Exposition showring with champion ribbons pinned on their female entries' halters after last Friday's Simmental breeding cattle show.

Sarah's senior heifer, Rennie, topped her class and went on to be named senior champion and reserve grand champion heifer. Rennie is a Renz H772 daughter out of a Signal cow.

Judge A. L. Eller, Jr. of Blacksburg, Virginia, awarded the reserve senior champion heifer rosette to Joseph Messick's senior entry, M.F. Miss Josie. Messick's September 1980 heifer calf, Joy, was named reserve calf champion. She, too, is a Renz H772 daughter out of Dutchess II.

Another Pennsylvania Simmental breeder exhibited a champion in the bull competition. RRF Superstar Sam, shown by Rolling Ridge Farms of Karns City, Butler County, was tagged bull calf champion. Sam is a CSV Achilles Superstar son out of Ms Roundup 38H.

The grand champion heifer trophy and several champion bull rosettes were awarded to entries of Johnny Reb Farms, Inc. of Charlottesville, Virginia. Before taking the grand female honors, Johnny Reb's Lady M267 was selected as the junior champion.

Bull entries, all bearing the farm prefix, took the reserve grand, junior and reserve junior championships. The November 1979 junior bull, Pride, took the top junior honors before placing next to the grand champion bull. The reserve grand champ is sired by Johnny Reb's Pride PB17.

The reserve junior champion is a half brother to the reserve grand champ. Pride M170, a May 1980 junior bull, stood first in his class before following his stablemate to reserve junior champion honors.

The senior and grand champion bull rosettes went to Langdon's Grant LF19, shown by Linden Farm of Lagrangeville, New York. He is a Lacombe Achilles 369 son out of Langdon's Gobela Ginger.

Plastic snow guards prevent roof avalanches

CAMP HILL, Pa. — The same tough plastic used in astronauts' face masks has proven a major Space Age advance against a serious, centuries-old problem that recurs every winter — heavy drifts of snow and ice that accumulate atop homes and other buildings with sloping roofs, then suddenly cascade down and off the roofs.

Such an avalanche can tear loose gutters and downspouts — requiring costly repairs. It can even injure people and cause damage on the ground below.

For many years, people in the snowbelt have fought rooftop avalanches by attaching "snow guards" — small upright strips of wood or metal — across the lower part of a roof. These hold back snow and ice, but can cause other troubles. Wood softens, rots and erodes. Metal corrodes and creates ugly stains on rooftops.

Then Jack McMullen, a metal building dealer for the construction industry, developed the concept of making snow guards out of a transparent plastic that resists corrosion and looks far less obtrusive on a rooftop.

After acrylic units were found to turn brittle and lose strength in extremely cold weather, transparent Merlon polycarbonate was substituted. This engineering thermoplastic resin manufactured by Mobay Chemical Corp., of Pittsburgh, Pa., has high impact strength and excellent resistance to extreme heat and cold.

During two years of practical testing in roof installations in the northeastern and midwestern United States, Canada and Alaska, the Merlon polycarbonate "Snojax" snow guards have withstood extended exposure to winter cold as low as -25°F. and summer heat of 100° F. or higher, without showing any adverse effects, according to McMullen, president of Snojax, Inc., headquartered at 1500 State St., Camp Hill, Pa. 17011. The units are molded by ASM Industries, of Leola, Pa.

The polycarbonate snow guards, McMullen points out, are ideal for houses, garage, barn, school, church, office, factory, warehouse or any other building with a sloping roof. The wider the roof, and the steeper its pitch, the greater the chances of a serious avalanche.

In recent years, the widening popularity of pre-fabricated standing-seam roofing in either aluminum or coated or enameled steel, with glossy coatings, has tended to foster an aggravated snow buildup and avalanche problem.

For maximum effectiveness in preventing rooftop avalanches, McMullen recommends installing at least two horizontal rows of Snojax just above the eaves on each sloping surface of the roof. The snow guards in each row should be about two feet apart, and about four or five feet allowed between the two rows.

The rows should run the entire length of the roof — and should be staggered, so that each Snojax in one row in positioned opposite a

PennAg convention focuses on food and fuel

Taking part in the recent Penn Ag convention were Morris E. Brown, Jr., F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc., Fleetwood, president; Thomas R. Ziegler, Ph.D., Zeigler Bros., Inc., Gardners, president for 1982; executive vice president Donald W. Parke, Penn Ag, Ephrata.

BUCK HILL FALLS — "There will be a shortage of food and fuel in the world by 1985. There are some mean, rough times ahead," cautioned Ralph L. Lewis, Jr., corporate communications director for Gulf Oil Corporation. Speaking at the PennAg Industries Association convention held here recently, Lewis told his audience of agribusinessmen that Americans consume their weight in oil every three days.

Lewis spoke on the frustrations of drilling for oil, with success occurring only once in every nine wells drilled. He explained that the United States, Canada, and Australia control the food supplies of the world and that food will be a factor in international politics in the near future.

With the theme "Agriculture—A Pattern for Growth", the 103rd convention of the statewide trade organization of agribusiness firms focused on current issues facing the agricultural world.

Giving a short overview of the picture of genetic engineering was Dr. James E. Wright, Jr., professor of genetics at Penn State. Wright remarked that while genetic engineering will not be the answer for everything, he believes that it will have tremendous application for agriculture in the future. He hoped the process has application to animal proteins, animal vaccines, and animal breeding as well as protein enrichment, fermentation products, and nitrogen fixation. Wright called the process "a way to produce superior plants and animals."

Ari Van Tienhoven of Cornell University touched on the topic of animal welfare and the poultry industry. He stressed the idea the solution to the problem between farmers and animal welfare supporters might be "a middle road" with both sides com-gap between two units in the next higher or lower row.

The base of each Snojax has two holes for screwing it to the roof surface. A transparent silicone adhesive is applied to this base and the unit is positioned on the roof. Two screws are then run through the holes and through the roofing material, into the purlin or structural support beneath the roofing. Neoprene washers are required under the heads of the screws.

Each guard juts up from the roof's surface, perpendicular to its slope, and faces diagonally skyward toward the ridge at the top of the roof. Thus, a flat, vertical surface is presented to help block snow and ice sliding down the roof.

Together in their staggered pattern, the guards break up the flow of sliding snow and ice. A cluster around the Snojax forms a blanket that acts as a barrier and holds back snow and ice at higher levels of the roof.

Wider and steeply pitched roofs, or those with complex contours, may require more than two rows of Snojax on each sloping surface. For instance, a 220-ft. long college building with a gambrel roof — shaped like an old Dutch barn, with three longitudinal sections of roof sloping at progressively steeper angles on each side of the building — required five rows of snow guards on each side. There were two rows each for the lower and middle sections, and one row for the upper section.

Because of the clear transparency of Merlon polycarbonate, Snojax units installed on a roof are almost invisible from the ground — regardless of the number of rows.

The retail price of Snojax is $2.25, each which is lower than the cost of a metal snow guard, Mr. McMullen says.

Ag in Action Day tour tomorrow

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — "Agriculture in Action Day" is set for tomorrow and will feature a tour of several farms in the Clover Hill area. Clover Hill is about 3 miles east of Flemington on Route 514.

This is an annual event sponsored jointly by the Hunterdon and Somerset Boards of Agriculture. Initiated five years ago by the Somerset County Board of Agriculture, its purpose then and now is to show off a number of progressive area farming operations, and to increase the public's understanding of what really makes agriculture hum.

Tours will be by tractor-drawn farm wagons. Guides will discuss the various activities, crops and practices enroute. There will be demonstrations of field chopping corn for silage; harvesting grain corn; drying and storage of corn, soybeans, and other grains; water and soil conservation projects; feeding and care of a large modern dairy herd.

Tours will be conducted continuously throughout the day, beginning at 10 a.m. with the last tour concluding by about 3 p.m. Rain date will be Sunday, October 18.

municating with each other. The entire controversy, he contended, is "economical versus emotional". He urged people to be reasonable, to listen, and to compromise over the issue.

Representing the firm Coopers & Lybrand of Philadelphia, Richard Ebert explained how the 1981 tax legislation will affect agribusiness. He called the tax reforms "the law with something for everyone" with the purpose of the Economic Recovery Tax Act being to bring about substantial improvement in the nation's economy. There are advantages for both individuals and businesses in the changes, he noted, and urged his audience to take advantage of the reforms.

Looking to the future on the agribusiness scene, Edward Millbank, Millbank Mills, Chillicothe, Mo., spoke of factors essential for a successful business operation. The fourth generation to operate Millbank Mills, he stressed the need for businessmen to listen to their customers. Elements affecting a business include the physical facilities, the feed mill capacity, the financial stability of the operation, government regulation, sales, and personnel. All play a vital role in painting a healthy business picture.

R.B. Caton, Ralston Purina Camp Hill, urged agribusinesses to have a sound credit policy if they wanted to improve their cash flow. A credit policy, he stressed, is an understanding between you and the consumer and all businesses should have one. With a sound credit policy, you will sell more, control costs, and limit investments, he added.

Again stressing financial management, a panel of agribusinessmen spoke at the convention, answering the question, "What am I doing differently in managing finances this year, compared to a year ago?" Neil S. Andre, Andre & Son, Montrose, Tom Brown, F.M. Brown's Sons, Birdsboro; Ned Clark, Clark's Ag Center, Turbotville, and Henry Hunsberger, Agronomy, Inc. Mercersburg, led by moderator H. Louise Moore, Penn State, spoke of the methods they are using to keep their businesses on sound financial footing.

Executive Vice President Donald W. Parke, in announcing plans for retirement on July 1, 1982, highlighted the progress made by the Association in the 22 years he served in that capacity. The board announced that written applications for the position will be accepted thru February 15. Employment will begin May 1.

The 1982 Penn Ag Industries Association Convention will be held September 14-16 at the Holiday Inn, Harrisburg.

Cauliflower and broccoli: making a living from fresh produce

BY SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Correspondent

Gardeners and homemakers are busy harvesting and processing some of the very last fresh produce to remain on the scene before winter sets in. Cauliflower and broccoli, although available during much of the gardening season, are once again enjoying a strong demand from homemakers for serving right away or freezing for the days ahead.

Lancaster Farming went to Strasburg, Lancaster County, last week to ask a veteran fresh produce grower just what it takes to make a good head of cauliflower and a tasty bunch of broccoli. For over forty years the Rowe family has been involved in marketing fresh produce. Prior to 1944, Donald's father tended market stands and filled them with produce he raised on rented ground.

In 1944, the elder Rowe bought the fifty-some acres on the edge of Strasburg to establish his produce fields. In 1975 son Donald, present proprietor of Rowe's Vegetable Farm and Greenhouse, took the operation over. For many years the Rowes traveled to Philadelphia to handle a market stand there as well as having several in markets in Lancaster County.

In 1978 however, they sold their stand in Philadelphia and decided to concentrate on the two local stands, selling wholesale to various firms and maintaining a walk-in market at their home on the corner of Twin Elm and Bunker Hill Roads just outside the borough of Strasburg.

The property includes on its premises, a large, banked barn dating to 1904 according to a keystone in its east wall, a large frame house, four greenhouses and a sizeable chickenhouse. Most of the farmwork, however, revolves around the production of fresh produce for retail and wholesale marketing.

The Rowes go to market at Root's Tuesdays and Green Dragon on Fridays. They have an indoor stand at Green Dragon and will maintain it all year long while they discontinue going to Root's at the end of September. They sell a wide variety of produce at the stands as well as in their modest storeroom at home. They also grow produce on wholesale orders.

Right now, though, they have broccoli and cauliflower in plentiful supply. Greenbeans are also still in production as is an everbearing red raspberry. Donald Rowe explained that the green beans being harvested now are probably the seventh planting for this year. He plants beans at ten day intervals as early as possible beginning in the Spring and running through to August to continue picking till frost.

The ever-bearing red raspberries produced a crop in June-July then started with more in September. The plants he has bearing now are five years old. Each late winter he cuts them back to no more than 26 inches high. They will then grow a crop for that summer.

Much of the acreage at Rowe's is double cropped with one type of vegetable going into the soil as the first finishes harvesting.

Even in the beginning of October, the work force is still busy outside picking string beans, harvesting broccoli and cauliflower, picking red raspberries, planting winter spinach and harvesting tomatoes, squash, gourds, and everything else still in the fields.

On the day this reporter went to the farm, two men were busy cutting the cauliflower and broccoli for market. The cauliflower heads were covered with the outside leaves drawn up over and around the heads and held by a rubber band to bleach or form snow-white heads. The men used sharp knives to cut the heads from the stalks leaving the leaves and rubberband intact. Rowe said he found that it was better to leave the leaves on the head to protect it from being scraped or bruised during handling.

The heads were loaded by hand onto a flatbed wagon and then moved to the packing area of the barn where they would be counted out and later sold by the dozen. If the heads are to be kept briefly before being sold, they are stored in a cool room refrigerated at a chilly 38 degrees.

John Byers, full time employee at Rowe's Vegetable Farm, harvests the cauliflower.

Donald said he prefers the hybrid varieties of cauliflower over the standard varieties because the hybrids will withstand dry conditions better. He pointed out that he does not have the water available to irrigate as some produce growers do and has had better success in using hybrid plants. His favorite cauliflower is Snow Crown. Judging from the heads being taken from the field, Snow Crown gives a snow white, very tight, nice-sized head at harvest.

Rowe answered the question how to pick out a good head of cauliflower at the market, "Pick one that is nice and white, tight-clustered and not spotted with mildew. Mildew means the head has been around too long to be fresh."

As is the case with the cauliflower, Rowe has a favorite hybrid broccoli as well. He likes Golden Comet. This year he also planted a newly marketed variety, Ventura. Both are doing well for him despite the dry conditions his geographic area has experienced this year.

The broccoli is also harvested by hand cutting. Once reaching the packing room, the broccoli is trimmed of its outer leaves and several "centers" are secured together with a rubberband to form a compact "bunch." The bunches are of a uniform size. They are placed in cold water with stems down to keep their freshness. When the broccoli is sold, it is counted out by bunch and packed in paperlined, wooden crates, twenty-four to a crate. That is the wholesale packing system. Local homemakers buy the cauliflower and broccoli by the head or half dozen in the case of the cauliflower and by the half-bushel or bunch for the broccoli.

Rowe explained that the consumer ought to choose a broccoli bunch by selecting one with a nice, uniform, dark green color, with tightly closed clusters. As the harvesting continues, the centers will be taken from all the plants and "shoots" or smaller clusters will grow. These smaller clusters will be banded together to make bunches. Rowe said the shoots are just as tender as the centers.

To have enough broccoli and cauliflower on hand throughout the Summer and Fall, Rowe and his workforce consisting of himself, his son Rob, his wife, their daughter, Wendy, and several local employees, transplant three times.

He starts his plants by seeding in beds south of the long chickenhouse. As the plants reach a strong root stage, they are transplanted into the fields with a tobacco planter. During the year he estimates he planted 14,000 cauliflower and broccoli plants. The first transplanting, he moved around 5,000 plants. The early and late plantings fair better because they prefer cooler rather than hot temperatures, according to Rowe.

Twice a week from transplanting to harvest, the plants are sprayed with a tractor-driven, row-crop sprayer. Rowe uses a spray with a short residue time permitting him to harvest one day after spraying. Donald says his father continues to do the spraying for him. Irene's and Donald's older son, Rick, also helps out part-time on the farm. The day of the visit to Rowe's, Rick was planning to spray a foam-type insulation layer on some of the greenhouses the Rowes use for foliage, poinsettia, perennial and annual plants throughout the year. Their greenhouse employee, Nancy Burkhart, has foliage plants growing in one greenhouse along with flats in which are germinating allysum, pansies, delphinium and other perennials.

In another greenhouse are poinsettia recently trimmed back to induce "branching" or starting fuller growth and budding. Later on these poinsettia will also fill up the next greenhouse as well.

The Rowes grow all kinds of flowering plants, potted and flats to fill orders seasonally from wholesale buyers as well as local walk-in customers. Christmas, Easter and Mother's Day are major marketing dates, but there is also demand for foliage plants in Winter and bedding plants in Spring.

Rowe said a third of his business is centered in the greenhouse and the other two-thirds in the produce from the fields he owns and rents. The chickenhouse provides a very necessary and otherwise costly requirement, fertilizer, he added.

It doesn't matter what time of year, a trip to Rowe's Farm and Greenhouse will find something growing and work to be done. This time of year they are losing their heads...cauliflower heads that is!

Donald Rowe, proprietor of Rowe's displays the center of a broccoli stalk. Donald took over the Rowe operation in 1975.

ABOUT GATHERING WOOD

Remember the cold months of winter? In a few months they will be here again. If you are adding wood to your heating energy for the coming winter, it's time to start thinking about it. You can, of course, buy wood and have it delivered ready to use. But if you look around, you can find other sources too.

"Elm trees killed by Dutch Elm disease make good firewood," says Walter Johnson, Extension forest resource specialist at The Pennsylvania State University. But remember to use them the first winter or before the spring following the tree's death. This prevents the disease-carrying beetles from emerging and infecting healthy trees.

You may also be able to get firewood from dumps and landfills, but be sure you have the approval of the landfill authority. As much as 30 percent of the debris in some town and city landfills consists of reusable wood fibers, including the logs, limbs and tops of trees topped by storms.

You can also get industrial wood scraps. Sawmills accumulate scrap materials such as slabs, trim and eding in their millyards. Lumber companies often offer these materials as firewood at minimal cost.

Another source of firewood may be the power companies. They offer the logs, limbs and tree tops that result from their maintenance efforts. Firewood may also be available from the National forests — but check with your nearest Forest Service District Ranger for more information. State foresters, county extension agents, and county and city foresters are all sources of information on local firewood.

HOW TO FIND SPACE FOR AN EXTRA BATHROOM

With higher than ever interest rates making houses as hard to sell as they are to buy, remodeling is the one way that families can make their existing homes meet their current needs.

Top on the list of remodeling priorities for many families who need more space is an additional bathroom. Even an extra half bath can speed the process of getting family members off to school or work in the morning. The big question, however, is where to fit that bath into the existing structure.

With new designs in lavatories, shower stalls, tubs and basins, it is possible to install a second bath even in limited or awkwardly shaped space.

Areas to consider for remodeling include a portion of a utility room or basement, a large closet, pantry, a section of the garage, a corner of the family room, or even under a staircase.

For the most economic installation, an area with plumbing already in place or nearby is a good choice. Shop around for fixtures. A compact bathroom can be as attractive as it is practical. An don't forget to include some storage space.

Consider privacy — both visual and sound — before you go ahead and settle on a location for your extra bathroom.

If you can't find space for a second bath, it is possible to remodel an existing bath and compartmentalize a bath.

Md. Shorthorn sale is Oct. 17

FREDERICK, Md. — The 8th Annual Maryland Shorthorn calf sale is scheduled for Saturday, October 17, at the Frederick Fairgrounds. Sponsored by the Maryland Shorthorn Association, Inc., it will feature purebred and crossbred Shorthorn calves from seven member herds. The sale will start at 7 p.m.

Consignors of the 28 calves are: Ben-Har Farms (Bennett & Harper), Woodbine; Raymond D. Ediger, Frederick; Edwin A. Hevner, Union Bridge; Holly Hill Farms, Ijamsville; T. Courtenay Jenkins, Owings Mills; Leneva Acres (the Eylers), Myersville; and E.A. & Noah Schaeffer, Westminster.

The steers are purebred or crossbred Shorthorns; the heifers are all purebred Shorthorns, registered or eligible for registry. A number of the Shorthorn-sired calves are by nationally known sires.

The sale is sponsored by the Maryland Shorthorn Association, Inc. as a means of providing a central source of supply for 4-H and FFA members to secure quality calves for their projects. The Association awards trophies each year to the exhibitors of Champion Shorthorn steers and heifers in the junior division of numerous Maryland shows and fairs. Calves sold in the Association's sales have regularly won awards at these shows.

Prospective buyers are not limited, however, to juniors. Established breeders can find quality herd replacements among the heifers offered at the Association's sales.

The sale manager is Henry L. Dodrer, Jr., Littlestown, Pennsylvania, president of the Maryland Shorthorn Association, Inc. Sale committee members are Bruce Bennett and Duane Harper, Woodbine; Edwin A. Hevner, Union Bridge; and Thomas E. Smith, Frederick. Auctioneer is Dennis Warfield, Woodbine. Further information is available by telephoning 717/359-7689; 301/663-6753, or 301/253-3800.

A free Shorthorn T-shirt will be presented at the sale to each junior purchaser of a calf.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

As you might guess, I'm back from my trip to Europe and again have dirt under my fingernails as I weed strawberries, pick up walnuts and help to glean corn.

Our family and its schedules have changed quite a bit since this summer. No longer does our phone ring continually and our cars dash in and out the lane from 6:30 in the morning to 12:30 at night. Our two youngest have given up their summer jobs and are both in the School of Engineering at Penn State — one as a freshman and the other as a senior.

They both managed to go to the shore this summer for a few days. And my husband and I took off 2 days to go fishing at Bald Eagle State Park and at Prince Gallitzin. I painted our license numbers on our boat and we got a small electric motor for trolling. Our son Jeffrey went along as our instructor and we caught a chest of small ones but no big fish.

Philip has bought a motorcycle for himself and now comes home from college on weekends to help fill the silos and to help with the seeding. He also has a part time job with the Soil Conservation Service office at State College, is President of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers at University Park and carries a heavy study load. There's no time for him to get into mischief.

One summer evening Philip gave me an exciting ride on his motorcycle. I felt like a person from Mars as I donned the heavy helmet and hopped on the back of his cycle. We hurried off to see a colorful air balloon that had landed in a neighbor's field and was giving folks short rides. It was a sure-fire way to gather the neighborhood.

Now, if we can just find a few hours this fall to fish at nearby Speedwell Lake or attend a fair, we will be happy, for winter comes too soon.

4-H'ers receive dairy awards

ONO — The Ono Fire Hall was filled with Lebanon County's future dairy producers during last Friday evening's 4-H Dairy Awards Banquet.

After a hearty meal, the club members settled down to the business at hand — who would be receiving this year's top awards?

Four 4-H'ers received recognition for completing the best club record books. Jere Bomgardner had the best book in the Norlebco club, while Daryl Balmer turned in the best one in the No-So-Ann club. Robert Bare topped the list in the Cedar Crest club and Patti Heilinger was tops in the Elco club.

For the best book in the county, the judges went with the best Norlebco record book and Jere Bomgardner.

It's not easy getting started in 4-H — there's so much to learn and such big kids to compete with — but Kendra Arnold and Chris Harding perservered and stayed with their projects to earn first year 4-H'er's Rookie Award in the Cedar Crest and Norlebco clubs respectively.

The top Rookie Award in the county went to Michelle Gish of the No-So-Ann club.

Nelson Bomgardner and David Bomgardner received recognition for winning the champion fitter and showman honors during the Lebanon Fair.

Also recognized were members of the Penn State and All-American judging teams: Penn State, Jere Bomgardner, Amy Alger, Michael Kunkle, Wesley Harding, and Charles Kline; All-American, Amy Alger, Dale Balmer, Nelson Bomgardner, and Matthew Hetrick.

Individual 4-H'ers who were honored for their judging efforts were: Sherry Donmoyer, Krista Hetrick, Wesley Harding, Laura Harding, and Heather Hernley.

Special awards were given to John Bomgardner, judging team coach, and Roy Miller, club leader, for their special service to the members at contests and shows.

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM?

Here's A Timely Tip...

Apply lime early

Take advantage of early results by liming in the late Summer and Fall. Get ground ready for the first Spring shoots by allowing the lime all winter to condition the soil.

Fulton Grange 66

Fulton Grange 66 observed Community Night Monday, September 28 with a special program at 8 p.m.

Carl R. Beck, administrative assistant for Instruction for the Southern Lancaster County School District, gave a most enlightening speech on "Curriculum Now And In The Future."

Beck defined the district's career education program as consisting of three components: self awareness, career awareness and career preparation which begins in Kindergarten and ends with twelfth grade.

Students on the primary level enter into activities of self awareness and observe careers of their families and others. As they advance in the intermediate level of grades 3,4, and 5 they also became aware of careers as studied in social studies and science classes.

In the Middle School grades of 6,7 and 8 students explore what careers are available in high school and vocational training. Those interested in pursuing a college education are offered courses which prepare them for their specific interests.

Amos Cunningham, Solanco Guidance Counselor, also gave brief remarks concerning what the district has to offer students in planning their careers.

Thomas Galbreath talked about the Pennsylvania Grange Exchange program which makes available to the members certain items in dairy products, meats and supplies on a six week delivery basis. Clifford Holloway Jr. told about tours Fulton Grange conducts.

Robert Housekeeper was honored as a 55-year member and gave brief remarks. The program also included group singing "The Dear Old Farm" and a skit "An Evening At Home" by Linda and Jesse Wood.

On display were some photos, slides, needlework and an oil painting which will be judged with other entries at the next meeting.

Clifford W. Holloway Jr., Lancaster County Pomona Master, announced their next meeting which will be held Saturday, October 10, 8 p.m. at Fulton Grange Hall. It will include election of officers and the lecturer, Doris Brown, will present the program.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

"Well. now that was one Sunday afternoon that was really worthwhile," our teenager concluded as the sunset wrote a curtain call for a perfect October weekend.

And that opinion, coming from one whose likely description of a majority of activities is "boring!", is no small compliment.

We had not gone out to dinner. We had not gone to the movies, or a sporting event, a meeting, a get-together, or even turned on the television.

We had simply stayed home.

But there's so much to do here at home.

Like work on the bike invented by the big and small farmers. Using an accumulation of old bike parts in the shop, they'd taken a few moments of the glorious afternoon to finish a "chopper" bicycle, styled after those strange looking motorcycles with the front wheel stretched out way ahead.

We now own the silliest looking bike in the neighborhood.

This was not boring. This was worthwhile.

Next came a hike down through the pasture, accompanied by the usual un-boring chasing the minnows and jumping across the creek until at least one sneaker is good and soggy.

In the pasture fencerow stands a venerable, aged, pear tree, that has seen many moons. Climbing that tree, leaning your weight against a branch laden with yellow-green fruit, and shaking pears down on your brother's and mother's heads is not boring.

Even less boring is watching mother mount her bike, one hand clutching a bulging bag of pears, the other wrapped around a cluster of bittersweet branches, and try to ride back home on the bumpy field road.

And observing mother disappear into the cornfield as she looses control of the bike is certainly not boring.

Other highlights of a worthwhile afternoon include lugging the fat lamb on the pickup for a ride to meet a handsome ram. Or watching the neighbor's adorable new baby pigs, or hauling home the pumpkins he's given you, while pestering that they be turned into pies immediately.

An impromptu doggie roast in the back yard, a prelude to the regular evening milking chores, wrapped up our non-boring Sunday.

I've long believed that today's kids are over-involved, over-chauffered, and simply overwhelmed with their abundance of activities.

Maybe they just need more time to be kids.

August CPI reflects higher meat prices

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Higher retail meat prices last month were the main cause of the four percent rise-before seasonal adjustment-in the consumer price index (CPI) for food in August, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture William Lesher said today.

"The August increase in food prices brought the food CPI to a level 7.2 percent higher than a year earlier," Lesher said, "continuing the pattern of food prices rising less than prices for nonfood items."

Lesher said he expects this year's rise in retail food prices to be about 8 percent, thereby moderating the general inflation rate. This compares to last year's 8.6-percent increase and would be the sixth time in the last seven years that food prices have risen less than prices for nonfood goods and services.

Food marketing costs will account for about two-thirds of this year's food price increase. About one-fourth will be attributed to a higher farm value of foods. The remainder will be due to higher costs for imported foods and fish.

The U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics released the August consumer price index earlier today.

"Food prices at grocery stores rose four percent as did prices for meals purchased away from home," Lesher said. "Meat prices increased nine percent in July, led by a 1.6 percent rise in pork prices. This reflected lower hog slaughter in July."

Regarding prices for other foods, higher marketing costs offset a lower farm value for cereals and bakery products, pushing prices for these foods up 0.1 percent, Lesher said. Declining supplies of apples from cold storage and lower California orange production pushed fresh fruit prices up 5.1 percent.

Lower potato prices offset higher prices for lettuce and tomatoes, pushing the CPI for fresh vegetables down 3.5 percent. Dairy products prices fell 0.2 percent as continued large milk production offset rising marketing costs. The CPI for fats and oils rose only 0.2 percent, reflecting large supplies.

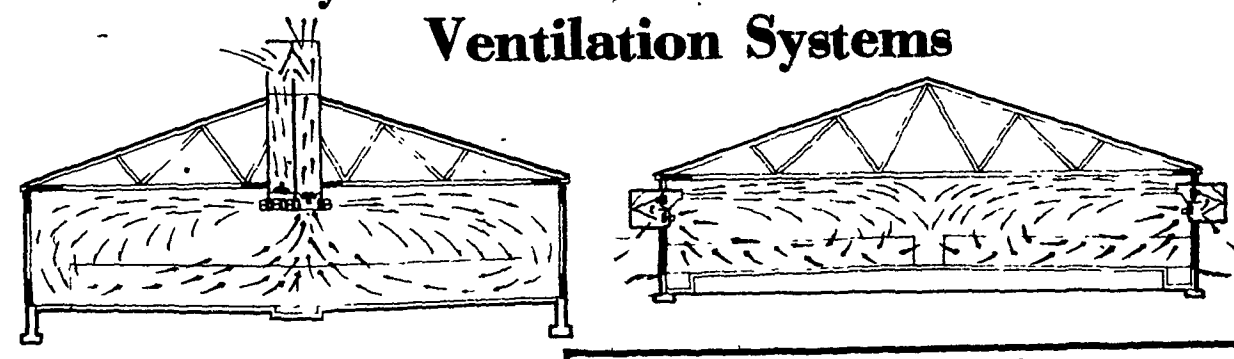
TRI-COUNTY SWINE SYSTEMS

"When It's Time To Build, Remodel, or Replace Equipment - It's Time to Call TRI-CO."

'MARTIN-AIR' PATENT PENDING

Fully Automatic Total Confinement Ventilation Systems



A unique air blending process provides even temperatures and controlled, draft-free air flow.

- Reduce animal stress
- End temperature fluctuations
- Reduce drug costs
- Reduce incidence of pneumonia and disease
- Reduce labor
- Lower condensation
- Confine manuring

Why The 'Martin-air' System is best for you

The success of Martin-air systems rests on a different concept than that used by most ventilation designs. Others work by exhausting air completely then drawing cold air from outside—usually at the other end of the barn. Martin-air units use an exclusive damper system which mixes fresh air and exhaust air so the output of the unit is never more than 4°F different from the room temperature. And, at any given spot in a properly designed barn, the temperature should seldom vary more than 1°.

The Martin-air principle is simple and effective. Thermostats control fan speed and a dampered mixing chamber to blend fresh air with warm air. Constant circulation throughout the building maintains uniform temperature, eliminates drafts and reduces condensation to provide a dry environment.

Other countries farm seaweed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Not all seaweed is the slimy, smelly green stuff that gets tangled in toes and kicked aside at the beach. Far from being a nuisance, most seaweed is sought after — by the tons.

Around the world, people pay millions for it. In Japan and China, they eat it. In the Philippines, they grow it on sea farms. And most Americans can't live without it.

It's what makes ice cream stay creamy, chocolate milk stay chocolately, toothpaste squeeze out smoothly, and suntan lotion go on easily. It's in puddings and pie fillings, pet foods and air fresheners, cosmetics, shaving creams, pill coatings, and house paints.

On the New England coast, Paul Vantangoli has been raking in seaweed from the rocky bottom every summer for 45 years.

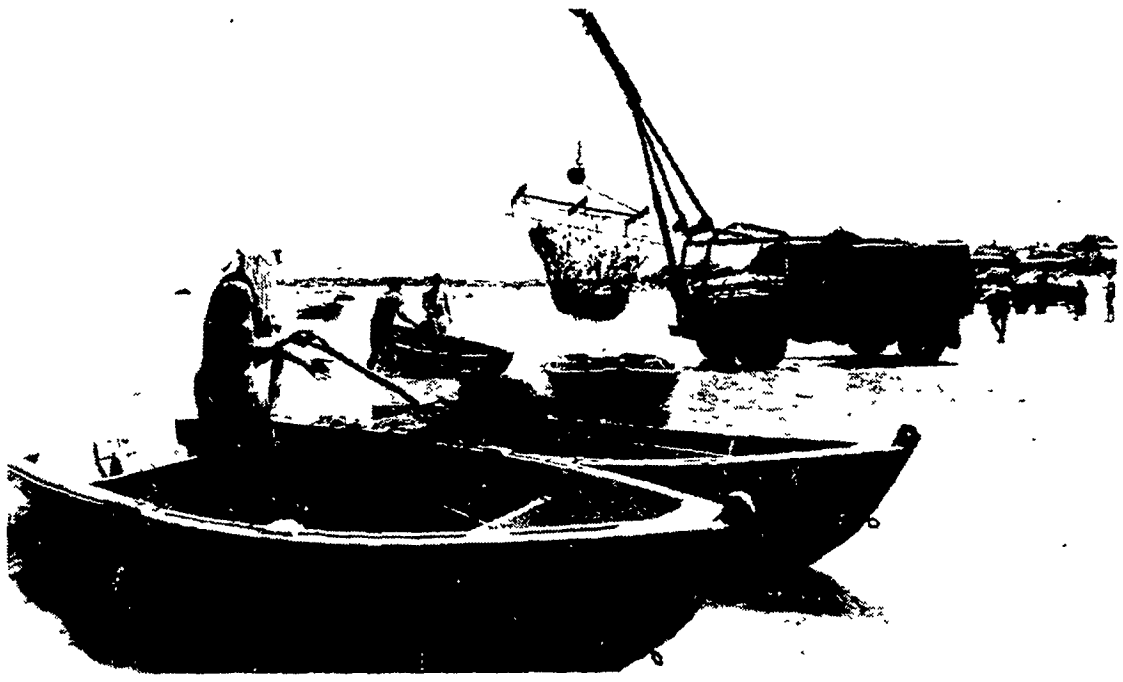
"When I first started back in the '30s, I pulled in a few pounds and sold it to pharmaceutical companies and to breweries. It put that foamy head on beer, the kind that sticks to the glass," he recalled. "Now they've come up with a thousand uses. Not a day goes by that we don't come in contact with it."

This season Vantangoli expects to haul in a million pounds of soggy wet seaweed, the dark red variety as Irish moss. On a good day he sends out 50 to 60 small flat-bottom boats, each manned by a high school or college student or college student with a long-handled rake.

It's a steady, but small business compared with the automated harvesting off the California coast. There, large barges with reapers — like old-fashioned wheat harvesters — move across the Pacific cutting the tops off giant brown kelp.

One of the fastest growing plants on earth, kelp is among the largest seaweeds, reaching lengths of 200 feet. The annual harvest is often plentiful enough to supply the world's largest producer–A San Diego company–with a kelp substance that has at least 500 uses.

Although seaweed has been harvested in some parts of the world for at least 5,000 years — as a food and medicine — its widespread popularity in the last four decades is attributed to the discovery of its versatility. Powdery, sugarlike substances derived from some seaweeds combine easily and well with other chemicals to act as gelling agents, thickeners, stabilizers, and emulsifiers.



"It started with chocolate milk," James Moss, a seaweed industry consultant, recalled. "The chocolate would always settle to the bottom. Then it was found that two seaweed substances could keep the chocolate suspended. From there it was ice cream, toothpaste -- and explosive growth."

Despite the demand for imports, there are no plans to farm seaweed here. Rather, the focus is on preserving what's there naturally

Boots/Saddles Club raises $550 for therapeutic riders

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

LITITZ — Because of the concern of members of the Boots and Saddles 4-H Club, Lancaster County's therapeutic riding program now has $550 to spend on much needed special equipment for the riders using the program.

At the club's annual horse show, opened this time to the general public, members raised $350 in class fees and refreshments. The show was held at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fellenbaum, Lititz R3.

An additional $200 was donated directly. Lee Seibert, a past director of the Arabian Horse Association, appeared in full Arabian dress to present a check for $100 from the South Central District of the Association. Jim Brewer presented a $50 check from Valley Lea Riding Club near Chestnut Level and Dave Rintz, gave another $50 from the Circle T Trail Riders at Denver.

Accepting the checks were Patty Bitts, one of the riders in the therapeutic program and County Agent Jay Irwin. The money will be used to purchase additional hats, safety belts, stirrups and saddles to be used exclusively by the program.

According to Rose Fellenbaum, Boots and Saddles 4-H Club leader, "We always give money to something and for the past two years it has been the therapeutic riding program. We have a lot of members and a lot of parents who help with the program, and they really enjoy working with it."

Normally the show is open just to members and their families, Mrs. Fellenbaum explained, but it was open to the public this year to attract a larger income.

A trophy in memory of Vickie Zipperlein was presented to the family which accumulated the most points throughout the day. It was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zipperlein, 2017 Landis Valley Rd., Lancaster, in memory of their daughter who was killed in an accident involving a trailer. The award was won by the Jim Charles family, Columbia R3. The family also donated trophies which had been won by Vickie as a 4-H'er to the show.

Dominic and Erika Fornicola show their halter broken hogs at the Susquehanna County 4-H Roundup.

It's easy to take this piggy to market

MONTROSE — The introduction of a hog halter class at the 1981 Harford Fair came about through an accident at the Larry Fornicola Farm. It all happened one afternoon when they had a difficult time loading hogs.

The Fornicolas attempted to put a rope around the neck of a hog and lead the hog up the ramp. Upon failing the maneuver, they tried a strap around the hogs chest in conjunction with a lead. This maneuver worked.

It was then that the idea of a hog halter class first occurred to them.

At the next meeting of the Baconeers Club of Susquehanna County, Fornicola suggested his family's idea to the club. The majority of the members were skeptical, retorting that it would be impossible to control a 180 lb. hog with just a rope.

The disbelievers were proved wrong at the 1981 Harford Fair when Jim Pearson, Erika Fornicola and Nick Fornicola succeeded in exhibiting three hogs walking peacefully on halters.

Nick and Erika explained how they had trained their hogs. The two started more than two months before the fair, and experimented with three different types of halters before deciding upon the most suitable type.

First they tried a collar, similar to the dog and small animal type, second a strap around the belly of the hog, and third a combination of the two connected at the back. The combination of the two proved best, because it gave the showman the most control over the hog.

When training their hogs, the Fornicolas used the reward system. In effect, they would lead their hogs to water than back to feed. Nick and Erika claimed that training went smoother if they allowed their hogs a certain amount of freedom to begin, and gradually worked toward showman control of the animal. The animals walked better when they were trained together.

Jim Pearson created his own halter,and it was very similar to that of the Fornicola's halters.

Seaweed farming

and finding new uses for seaweed substances.

Along the New England coast, for example, scientists like Philip Sze are trying to monitor the factors controlling seaweed growth. With support from the National Geographic Society, Sze of Georgetown University is back in Maine this summer studying seaweed in tidepools.

Among the new and more serious problems that scientists hope seaweed can tackle are two of America's biggest: cancer and energy. Some species are being tested for possible treatment of digestive tract cancer. Decaying seaweeds can produce methane gas, perhaps someday enough to heat homes.

BALTIMORE, Md. — Another Maryland County resident has won top honors in national 4-H dairy cattle judging competition.

This year's winner is Michael J. Allen, 18, of Jefferson, an animal science sophomore at the University of Maryland in College Park. Ronnie Kling of Taneytown, Maryland, won in 1974.

Mike placed first in over-all individual standings as well as total reasons.

In addition, he was first in Jersey breed judging and second in Ayrshire judging. His feat earned him the annual $500 Lawrence O. Colebank Guernsey scholarship award.

Team members Steve Hobson, 17, of Taneytown, and Kenlin Martin, 16, of Smithsburg placed ninth and fourteenth, respectively, in Guernsey judging.

Brian Derr, 18, of Taneytown was first in Holstein judging. He had been high individual in senior 4-H dairy cattle judging on September 5 at the Maryland State Fair.

Coaching the Maryland team was Tony R. Rickard, Extension breed association specialist and assistant professor of dairy science at the University of Maryland. The national contest was held in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo at Madison, Wisconsin.

Michelle Bankert is outstanding 4-H'er, swine producer

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

HANOVER — Operating a swine farm of her own is the goal of this year's York Fair outstanding 4-H exhibitor, Michelle Bankert.

Michelle, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bankert, R3 Hanover. A 4-H member for seven years, Michelle is a veteran hog showman in both youth and open classes.

She's also exhibited beef and sheep during her 4-H career, as well as carry a variety of other projects, including cooking, sewing, vegetables, forestry and crafts.

Although the Bankert family has been breeding and marketing purebred Durocs and Chester Whites for several years, the family only moved onto the farm a half-decade ago. As a small girl, Michelle frequently accompanied her dad to the barns to help tend the herd, absorbing invaluable information about the pork production business.

"Most of my hog knowledge came from my dad," credits Michelle. "He got me interested in judging, too."

A member of the county's 4-H livestock judging team, Michelle earned enough points earlier this summer in state competition to place fourth high individual in the Penn State contest. In 1979, she was part of the county team finishing in the state 4-H runner-up position.

A high point in her 4-H judging efforts, though, came in 1980 when the county's meats judging team took state honors, and she traveled with her three teammates to the Royal Livestock Exhibition in Kansas City for national competition.

Ironically, Michelle laments that she does her judging on hog classes, gaining considerably more points in the sheep scoring categories. Within the relatively few years she's been studying the art of livestock evaluation, ideal hog type traits have done a turnabout. While judges once looked for a large, thick-topped animal with lots of body, today's hog is more preferred long, narrow individual, with less body depth.

About 200 head of purebred breeder and market animals fill the assortment of pens in the Bankert barns, with Michelle employed full-time on the operation. Among her responsibilities are helping with the feeding, and with moving groups of hogs within the series of pens.

"My dad moves more pigs around than anyone else I know." she quips with a grin.

A June graduate of Spring Grove Area High School, Michelle is also employed part-time in the offices of the Thomasville Livestock Auction. After a year of assisting with the hog operation, she plans to enroll at Harrisburg Area Community College for computer programming studies.

With just one year of 4-H remaining, Michelle plans to continue focusing her main efforts toward hog production, while stepping into greater leadership with the younger members of the 4-H clubs. She's president of the Jefferson Community Club, active in the county swine club and former officer of county council.

A year ago, the attractive, hog enthusiast won the crown as the county 4-H queen. Along with 4-H king Bill Wise, she's made numerous appearances promoting the 4-H program within the organization and to the general public.

As the fair's outstanding 4-H'er, Michelle may select an expense-paid trip within the country to some event related to her project activities. She's chosen to attend the Duroc Classic, part of the International Livestock Exposition scheduled for Louisville, Kentucky, in mid-November.

Now, for many young women, a trip to a hog show would be no major thrill.

But for Michelle Bankert, youthful in age but mature in her knowledge of the pork industry, the Louisville Expo is just one more logical step up the ladder to hanging out a sign that reads, "Michelle Bankert's Purebred Swine."

Michelle Bankert, selected as the York Fair's outstanding 4-H'er, puts the finishing touches to a 4-H promotional exhibit at the Bankert family's swine pens. Hogs are Michelle's favorite animals.

Winner by a 'finger' — Wendell Woodbury

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

LANCASTER — Who's the champion celebrity "hand-milker" of Lancaster County?

He's a former New England dairy farm lad turned electronic humorist and satirist.

He's Wendell Woodbury, of WGAL-TV, Channel 8.

Wendell, who admits to being off that hilly, rocky Maine dairy farm for a few years took on all celebrity comers Friday, Oct. 2, in downtown Lancaster and lived up to his self-endowed nickname of "Fingers."

Photos 1 and 2 show some of his form. Wendell hails from Morrill, Me., where his father still has a mixed herd of Holsteins and Jerseys.

"I used to be a substitute milking machine."

"We had milking machines when I was on the farm yet," he explains.

"But they were always breaking down and that's when they called on me. I guess you could say I was a substitute milking machine."

It was obvious in his competition with leading captains of business, industry and "state" in Lancaster County that Wendell was somewhat of a "ringer." He talked to his cows and let them know he was there before starting. And he must have warm milker hands.

"One of the cows had smaller teats," he said. "I had to change my grip then and went more to a fingertip grasp."

"I had to rewrite the script."

But Wendell performed with three of the four cows present and coaxed the most milk from all of them.

"I had to rewrite the script for the news segment," he explains.

"I didn't actually want to win but I did."

And from his Lancaster County milking debut, Wendell and his cameraman put together another change-of-pace piece of TV journalism that has attracted many fans in Channel 8's coverage area. It ranks right up there with his "Flying with Santa" segment on Christmas Eve.

But Kim is a lot prettier.

On his way to the milking title, Wendell even had a pull-off with Deb Greider, Lancaster County Dairy Princess, Photo 3.

Photo 4 shows fellow Channel 8 staffer, Kim Lemon, of "PM Magazine." (Maybe she can't milk as well as you, Wendell, but she's a lot prettier.)

Mayor uses his head.

Photos 6 and 7 show the form of two governmental leaders. Mayor Art Morris dons his cap baseball catcher style and puts his head right into it. (Perhaps, he's used to butting his head up against a brick wall.) And County Commissioner Jean Mowery sits back a bit to get a better idea of the overall picture.

And Wendell, just in case your milking fame goes to your head, I found two spectators who didn't even know you.

I love you, Gran'ma.

Photos 8 and 9 show them. It's a grandmother and granddaughter (I believe) and they couldn't care less about the displaced barnyard shenanigans going on in Lancaster Square.

After all, they've seen plenty of cows being milked.

Carbon County salutes 4-H'ers

Six Carbon County 4-H'ers display the trophies they received during the Carbon County Fair, where they were honored as "Outstanding 4-H Members." The outstanding members, with trophies, are seated from left to right: Diane Miller, Dawn Hoffman, Rebecca Gilbert and Shannon Szakacs all from Lehighton. The two members in the back row include, Kathy Storm, East Weissport and Scott Seltzer, Lehighton. The 4-H'ers are surrounded by, from left to right, Danadee Miller, 4-H assistant, Ned Harleman, fair director, Lee Wenner, county home economist, E. Chester Heim, deputy secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, State Senator Jim Rhoades and Gordon T. Bennett, fair director.

? That's A ? Good Question

Does anyone know where to buy a coriander grinder, or any other type of grinder that would work to grind seeds? I tried a blender and other types, but the results were not too good.

Dave Adams, Hamburg

Mr. Adams,

The Lancaster County Extension service recommended trying herb and spice shops in your area. After contacting a herb shop in the Lititz area, we found that coriander grinders are very scarce and expensive. They recommended trying a pepper mill first. This should grind the seeds completely as would any coriander or spice grinder since coriander is actually a type of spice anyway.

Would you know where to find Dexter pygmy cattle, pygmy goats, and geese in this area?

Mr. Painter, Philadelphia

Mr. Painter,

This was quite a perplexing question and took quite a few phone calls, but we managed to locate the American Dexter Cattle Assn. for you. You can write to them at P.O. Box 56, Decorah, Iowa, 52101. Phone is 319-735-5772. A few Dexter breeders in Pennsylvania are: Dean Filburn, R2, Fayetteville, PA, 17222; Klein Brothers, R3, Butler, PA, 16001; Ronald Kerr, R2, Titusville, PA, 16354; and Robert Hermann, R1, Marion Center, PA 15759.

You might also want to try Ruth Dunn, breeder of Dexter Cattle in Hackettstown, New Jersey. Her phone number is 201-852-4245.

Daisy Moore, secretary of the Association, said she will be glad to answer any questions you may have on the breed.

I am inquiring about persons in the Lancaster area who buy goat milk for processing and making goat cheese. Do you have any information to help?

Paul Turner, Airville

Mrs. Turner,

There used to be a goat milk processing plant in Boyertown, but as of August it stopped business. You might want to try calling Jacob Fisher of Manheim (717-665-3803). He processes and sells his own goat's milk. If any other readers know of any plants or businesses of this nature, please write and let us and Mr. Turner know.

I can plant these Pioneer hybrids the same way they are recommended... with confidence.

Under higher plant population and proper fertilization, 3572 really moves up! 3572 has the yield potential of 3780, but adds better stalk strength, "stay green", test weight and grain quality to its list of advantages. Recent yield data reveals a 6.9 bushel advantage per acre over competitive hybrids. That's over $22 per acre more income!

3535

A blessing in the face of high fuel costs, 3535 dries down remarkably fast. How about excellent standability and "stay green"? 3535 does it all.

Rohrbach completes Berks 4-H career in winning style

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT — After participating in 4-H for the past ten years, eighteen-year-old Allan Rohrbach, Shoemakersville, showed his last 4-H hog to Grand Champion honors during the annual Berks County 4-H Swine Round-Up.

The hog shown by Rohrbach was a three-way crossbred gilt weighing 220 pounds. It was first named champion middleweight before being declared Grand Champion over 41 other contenders.

Rohrbach, a 1980 graduate of Hamburg Area High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Rohrbach. He works full time at home, helping to milk about 40 Holsteins and farm 107 acres.

This is the second time Allan has shown a grand champion hog at the Round-Up. He also was named champion showman in his age group. The champion fitter was the Reserve Champion Market Hog exhibitor, Terry Snyder, R2 Hamburg. Snyder had shown his reserve champion mediumweight crossbred hog to Reserve Champion honors at the Reading Fair two weeks earlier. He is the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Snyder. Buyer of both champions was Hatfield Packing Co., Hatfield.

A total of $1,210.00 was paid for the champion at a cost of $5.50 per pound. Reserve champion was sold for $1.30 per pound and weighed 225

(Turn to Page B23)

Allan Rohrbach sold his grand champion market hog to Hatfield's Jerry Clemens for $5.50 a pound during the Berks County Round-Up sale.

Young shepherds in KILE spotlight

Tim and Sarah Fleener with their grand champion Shropshire ram.

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

FARM SHOW COMPLEX — Fresh from the grand champion's ring at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition last weekend, two young, but veteran Lancaster County shepherding teams are off with their top rams to the Eastern National Livestock Show at Timonium, Md. this weekend.

For one of the teams, a new husband and wife partnership, Tim and Sarah Fleener, of Lancaster, their grand champion Shropshire spring ram is bringing them quite a few belated wedding gifts.

And the younger member of the other team, a sister "act," Margaret and Barb Herr, R1, Narvon, showed her FFA project fall ram to similar top honors in both the open and junior Dorset competition.

In addition, Margaret had the reserve champion Dorset ewe in the open competition and was third in the Ladies Lead Line. Older sister, Barb, had the champion ewe in the junior show.

Since their marriage in June, Tim and Sarah (Brubaker) Fleener have been busy getting ready for the show circuit and finally moving out onto it.

Their Shrop ram was purchased from Bob Hartzell, Greenville, Ohio, and was also champion at the Maryland State Fair on Labor Day.

The couple moved some 70 head of Shrop ewes from Tim's home near Richmond, Ind. this summer and after some careful culling are developing a dual breeding operation with Sarah's Hampshires.

They have about 25 Hamp ewes and 15 Shrops presently.

"We're now looking for quality rather than quantity," the couple explains.

"The grand champ is our main stud ram. He's long in the rump and our ewes are short and he should give us just what we're looking for."

And the Herr sisters, Margaret at Garden Spot High and Barb at Penn State, packed up the Nix Besser Dorset string for the trip south to Timonium.

For Margaret, the double junior and open ram champ at KILE is special because it's an FFA project.

The rapport between handler and animal that can only develop from this unique ag relationship reserved solely for youthful exhibitors is clearly evident both in and out of the show ring. (The accompanying photo with Margaret looking at her champ clearly illustrates this affinity.)

Other top winners in the sheep copmpetition at KILE:

—Gerald and Barbara Rohrer, Quarryville, had the reserve champion ram in the Junior Southdown Show.

—Robert E. Calvert, of Spraggs, Greene County, exhibited the grand champion Cheviot ram in open competiton.

—In market lamb competition, the big winner was Penn State. The University had the grand champion open pen of three market lambs, the reserve champion pen and the reserve champion individual.

—The reserve champion Hampshire ram, a spring lamb, was exhibited by Chester Countian William Moore III, of Elverson.

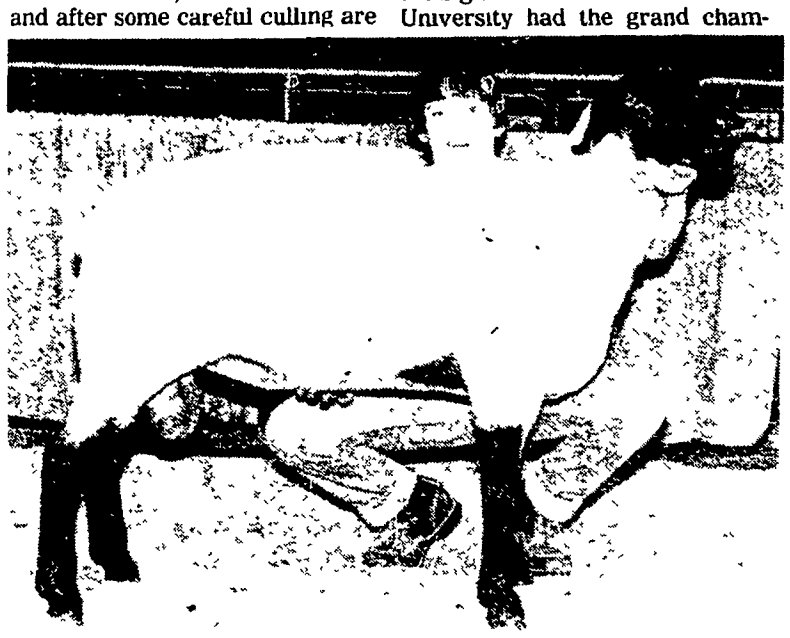
—And another Chester Countian garnered the premier exhibitor award in the Suffolk Show. It went to William J. MacCauley, of Breezeview Farm, Atglen.

MacCauley was also a multiple winner in the Junior Suffolk Show. Top awards included the champion and reserve ram, plus the champion ewe. And from the same family operation came the reserve champion ewe, shown by Nancy MacCauley.

And from Berks County, Charles R. McCrae, of Mohnton, was a double winner in the Corriedale competition. He had the champion ram, a yearling, and was also named the premier exhibitor.

In the Junior Shropshire Show, Steve Calvert, of Berlin, had the champion ram

Herman Calvert with Cheviot champion ram.



William MacCauley with Junior Suffolk champion ram.

In the winner's circle for the third consecutive year is Albert Wilson Jr., center, of Rural Retreat, Va. Wilson showed the grand champion ram for the third consecutive year, retaining the Mr. Hampshire trophy. He also had the champion ewe. Left is Steve Ebersole, president, Pa. Hampshire Association; and Jim Cretcher, secretary of American Hampshire Association.

PLA salutes Glenn Kean as Livestock Man of the Year

BY DONNA TOMMELLEO

GRANTVILLE — More than 180 people gathered for the annual Pennsylvania Livestock Association banquet, Saturday, erupted with applause as Glenn Kean, former Penn State animal science professor, was named PLA's 1981 Livestock Man of the Year.

"He has been a great influence to young people," said PLA board member, Max Smith.

Kean, who resides in State College, was a member of the Penn State faculty for more than 33 years until his retirement a year ago. He maintained close contact with many students as coach of the Penn State meat judging team.

The Venango County native is an alumnus of Penn State with a bachelor of science degree in dairy husbandry. He later earned a master degree in animal science. More recently, Kean was elected as PLA second vice-president.

The PLA also recognized four young people, Saturday, for outstanding achievments in 4-H and FFA.

James Black, an FFA member from Avella, Washington County, was honored for his work with his 80 head of breeding sheep, which include Suffolk and Columbia. James, a freshman at Penn State, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Black.

Black's Penn State roommate, Kieth Bryan from Media, was lauded for his efforts with swine. Kieth, a member of the Delaware County 4-H Swine Club raises crossbred feeder pigs. Kieth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Bryan, Jr.

The PLA honored York County youth, John Marsteller, Jr., for his outstanding work with his 55 head of beef cattle. The Stewartstown FFA member is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marsteller, Sr.

Horse enthusiast Stacy Esworthy was honored for her work with the equines. The Danville 4-H'er is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Esworthy.

Saturday evening also marked the first day for the recently elected Executive Committee of the PLA. The new officers include: Sam Wilson, Coatesville — President; John Henkel, Strasburg — First Vice President; Glenn Kean — Second Vice President; C. Eugene Wingert, St. Thomas — Secretary; Jim Glass, Glenside — Treasurer.

Earlier in the program, banquet guests heard Dr. Michael W. Fox, director of The Institute for the Study of Animal Problems, speak on "Farm Animal Welfare, Facts, Fallacies and Controversies."

Fox addressed the audience, which represented various livestock species, by recognizing that the strength of agriculture is due to diversity.

He emphasized the need to redesign several management structures and to become more aware of animal behavior and welfare.

"We must not place economics ahead of our ethics," Fox said.

The annual banquet was held in conjunction with the 25th annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Max Smith, left, board member for the Pennsylvania Livestock Association congratulates the 1981 Livestock Man of the Year, Glenn Kean during the annual PLA banquet, Saturday night.

Lancaster mare takes top KILE honors

HARRISBURG — Myss Sandstorm Sue, the 4-year-old entry of Cindy Schwartz, Lancaster was named grand champion Quarter Horse mare during the 25th annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition, Sunday.

The victory marked the sixth Grand Champion title for Schwartz's mare this year. Despite the fact the mare missed three months of showing due to a leg injury, she also has collected five Reserve Grand Champion titles and 20 halter points.

Schwartz was one of several Pennsylvania exhibitors who took top honors during the 4-day horse show.

Buddy Sweet, an aged Quarter Horse stud was named reserve grand champion stallion. The reserve champ was the entry of Alfred and M. Krusen, Wycombs.

Ohio breeder Lawrence D. Fry, Canton took home Grand Champion Stallion honors with his 2-year-old colt, Ducks Unlimited.

A roar of approval went up from the crowd during the Arabian classes as John and Judy Coldiron's 3-year-old stallion was tapped as grand champion. The Oxford couple's entry was Emerald Hill Nabiel.

John and Judith Massaro, Schwenksville exhibited the reserve junior champion Arabian colt. The Massaro's winning entry, El Troubadour is a yearling.

Reserve Junior Champion Filly honors went to S.A.F. Gaylima. The yearling filly was the entry of Marueen M. Bachman, Manheim. David Houseknect, Montoursville took home Reserve Champion Mare honors with his aged Arabian mare, ElAubrey.

The Becks of Bentleyville, Ohio claimed the Grand Champion Mare title with their entry Kashba.

D.F. and W.K. Swartz of Hummelstown were in the winners circle Friday during the Appaloosa Horse Show.

The Swartz's exhibited "Band Leader" to the grand champion stallion title. "Band Leader" was winner of the four year and older class and later named reserve champion performance horse of the Appaloosa show. "Band Leader" also excelled in individual classes topping the senior English pleasure class and the hunter under saddle competition.

The reserve grand champion stallion title went to "Questionario II," a two year old colt exhibited by Bob and Dana Clarke of Monsey, New York.

"Miss Pennyrich," a two year old fillie, was named grand champion mare of the show. She was exhibited by Alice and Larry Ward of Felton. The reserve champion mare, winner of the four year old and over class, was shown by Marcia and Heather Boney of Watsontown. Their entry was "Mitzi Marshall."

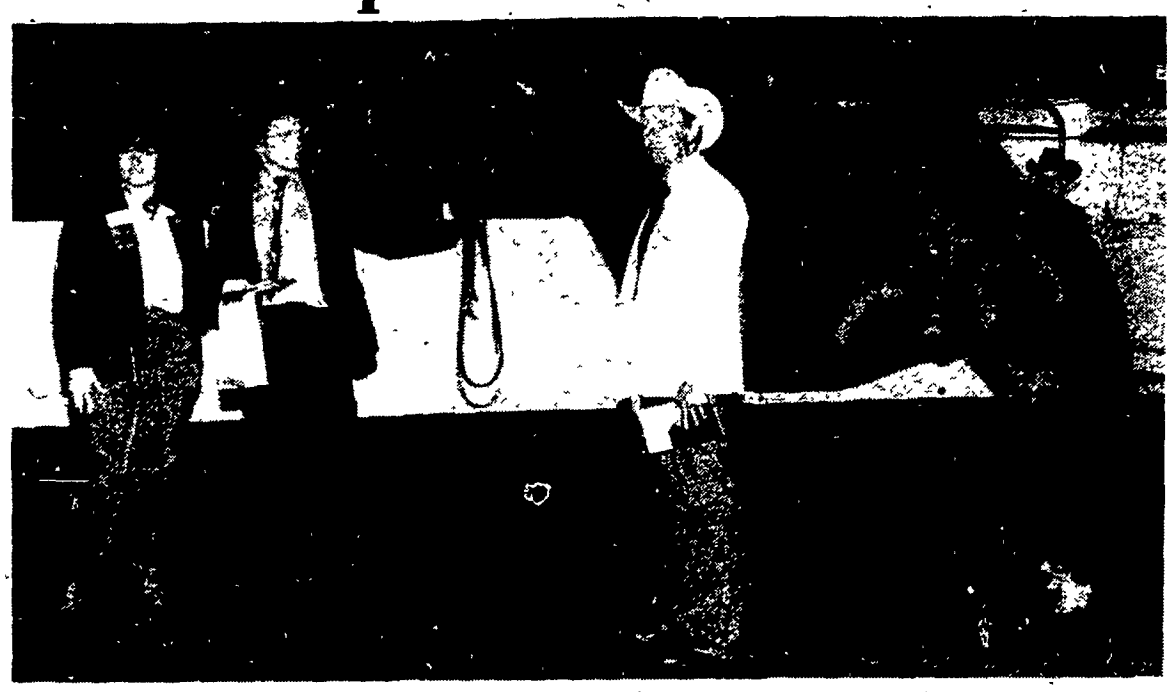
The reserve grand champion gelding, "I'm a Copino Too," was shown by Julie Hayduke of Etters.

Championships were split by exhibitors across the country, Saturday during the Paint Horse Show held.

"Yellow Fever," shown by B. Hittle & T. Nelson of Shelbyville, Indiana, was dubbed grand champion stallion of the show. "Yellow Fever" previously won the three year old stallion competition. The reserve grand champion stallion, "Call Me Sonny," a two year old colt, was exhibited by Sandi Gattis of Maitland, Florida.

A Michigan entry, "Breeze A Leo," captured the grand champion gelding title. The gelding, winner of the four years or older class, was shown by Terri E. Palmer of Grosse Pointe Woods. A three year old named "Buzz'n Bout Barry," exhibited by Barbara Betzold of Newark, New York, was named reserve grand champion gelding.

Amanda Lee Fransen, Gardenerville, Nevada exhibited the grand champion mare, "Snow Angel Kleburg." The reserve grand champion mare, "Jo Dee Flash" was exhibited by Glenn Bennet, Hudson, Ohio.



Donna Connell presents the Grand Champion Arabian Stallion award to John Coldiron for his top stud, Emerald Hill Nabiel. The 3-year-old stallion got the winning and from show judge Don Burt, wearing hat.

Cindy Schwartz and 5-year-old daughter Heather have both accumulated wins with KILE grand champion Quarter Horse mare, Myss Sandstorm Sue. Heather rode the mare to a Reserve Grand Champion title in a Walk and Trot class at a Lancaster Riding Club show. Cindy hopes to qualify the mare for Supreme Halter classes next year.

Budget cuts will undermine programs

SOUTHAMPTON — The proposed budget cuts by the Reagan administration in the school meal pattern requirements, if finalized, will seriously undermine the nutritional quality of the school feeding program, says Dairy Council Inc., Southampton.

More specifically, three points of the total proposed changes promise to have far-reaching effects for the nutrition program as a whole.

In a letter to USDA, Dairy Council outlined these points and requested serious consideration be given to maintaining the quality of the program.

Dairy Council also wrote to state and local educational and nutritional organizations and requested them to add their support to this endeavor.

Strongly urged is (1) that USDA retain the nutritional requirement of one-third of the RDA for school lunches; (2) that USDA not call for a reduction in the amounts of the four meal components required in meal patterns for the subject programs now or in the future; and in the amounts of milk required in meal patterns for preschool and elementary school children; (3) that yogurt be added as a food choice and not be offered in lieu of fluid milks.

If permitted to stand, says Dairy Council, many of the proposed changes would erode the very foundation of school nutrition programs, and have a potentially devastating effect on the service of fluid milk in the lunch program.

Enforcer, Jogger get sweep S.O.P. show

Falklands Farm earns premier awards at KILE

BY SHEILA MILLER

HARRISBURG — For the second time in nearly two decades, the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Polled Hereford Show received national status and was selected as one of the breed's Standard of Perfection shows.

The prestigiousness of this event was clear to even the most casual bystander on Saturday morning as the 553rd Air Force band sounded out the national anthem across the showring. As the last note was lost in the vastness of the Farm Show complex, the Dr. Frank P. Perrone S.O.P. show was christened and the Polled Hereford exhibitors were ushered in.

A letter of congratulations from Governor Dick Thornburgh was presented to Dr. Perrone, owner of Five Points Pastures, Greensburg, Westmoreland County, by Farm Show Director Horace Mann.

Perrone, who has bred some of the top Polled Hereford cattle in the nation and who has served on both the state and national Polled Hereford Association boards, was honored, along with his partner and wife, Addie, at a special banquet Friday evening.

Perrone, who began farming and raising Polled Hereford cattle "as a refuge, an escape" to the pressures of his demanding surgical practice, explained his fascination for genetics and his drive for excellence which eventually led to his success. He added, however, his good fortune in breeding Polled Herefords was not soley through his individual efforts but through the conserted efforts of many people who had the same goal.

Another Polled Hereford breeding farm striving toward these same goals of excellence and competitiveness in the beef cattle business is Falklands Farm of Schellsburg, Bedford County. This top Polled Hereford farm was named Premier Breeder and Exhibitor of the Perrone S.O.P. show.

Falklands' manager Jim Strawn led their Enforcer daughter, FLF Forcette 950, a September 1979 heifer, to the top of her class and on to be tagged senior and grand champion female of the show by Judge Bob Kropp of Oklahoma State University.

Another Falklands entry and another Enforcer daughter, FLF

Falklands Farm, Greensburg, Bedford County, exhibited the grand champion Polled Hereford heifer at Saturday's Standard of Perfection Show, held at the Farm Show Complex in conjunction with KILE. FLF Forcette 950 is a September 1979 calf sired by Enforcer 107H. Judge Bob Kropp, far left, praised her frame, femininity, thickness of muscling, and correctness.

Falklands Farm manager Jim Strawn accepts the Premier Exhibitor and Breeder plaques from Dr. Frank P. Perrone, center and APHA senior vice-president Jim Harris, right.

Don Kerr, manager of Overlook Farm, Little Falls, N.Y. is at the halter of the grand champion Polled Hereford bull, ASB Joggers Legend. Judge Kropp acknowledged this 'Jogger' son's outstanding frame, correctness, natural shape of muscling, and overall growth and trimness.

Jim Harris, left, American Polled Hereford Association vice president, presents Dr. Frank P. Perrone and wife Addie with a plaque recognizing the Pennsylvania breeders' top cattle program. The 109th S.O.P. show was dedicated to Perrone.

Berks Chamber meets farm issues face to face

BY LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT — Members of the Berks County Chamber of Commerce met with approximately 36 agri-business leaders of Berks County recently here at the County Agricultural Center in an effort to build a bridge of understanding, unify, and compete together against outside business interests instead of competing against each other.

The Chamber expressed a renewed interest in the problems and concerns of Berks County farmers and agri-business leaders. The meeting was planned to bring to light the problems facing the agri-business community giving all participants a chance to voice their concerns. The Chamber of Commerce then plans to identify and select a few good, common and attainable goal and work with the agri-business community to achieve these goals.

Major concerns noted most frequently by the participants were: farmland preservation, high interest rates, lack of public concern, school taxes, and marketing.

Tony Grimm, president of the Chamber of Commerce explained that a smaller committee consisting of several agri-business leaders, farmers and Chamber of Commerce members would take the ideas, discuss them, identify an area to work on and then report back to the larger, "idea" group which was assembled at this meeting.

Clyde Myers, Berks County Extension Agent noted how important agriculture is to the strength of the economy. Myers told the group that agriculture encompasses 24 percent of the nation's gross national product, and 23 percent of it's employment force. He also said there are two million farmers, or three percent of the labor force, farming about one-half the total land area of the United States.

Myers also told the group that American consumers are currently spending only 17 to 19 percent of their income on food while the French spend 26 percent; Brazilians spend 42 percent; and Russians must spend 52 percent of their income on food. The county agent noted that 25 percent of American's food bill is not spent for food and 30 percent of their food dollars are spent in restaurants.

Falklands also exhibited the reserve champion cow/calf pair, FLF Forcette 9002.

Not to be outdone by their female couterparts, the Falklands bull lineup brought home some champion honors, too.

FLF Masterpiece, a March 1979 son of the popular Enforcer bull, took the blue ribbon in the last class of the S.O.P. show. He later stood as reserve senior and ultimately reserve grand champion. He is co-owned with Busby Farm.

Falklands Farm and Busby Farm exhibited the reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion bull, FLF Masterpiece, an Enforcer son.

Falklands and Jim and Moe Barrington of Schellsburg teamed up with their junior bull to top the class and take the reserve junior champion honors with still one more Enforcer son. QRR Enforcer 107HM46 is a June 1980 bull out of FLF Victoria 81 210.

In group classes, Falklands claimed top honors for Best Six Head and Get of Sire.

The grand champion banner went to a son of another national champion bull. ASB Joggers Legend was tagged senior champion before being chosen by Judge Kropp as the best bull in the S.O.P. show. Sired by Will Via Justa V, known as Jogger to Polled Hereford breeders, the grand champion was exhibited by Overlook Farm, Hidden Hills Farm and BNC Polled Herefords, Little Falls, New York.

Overlook Farm also showed the junior champion female, ASB BO TOO 20. This March 1980 heifer is a Jogger daughter.

Greg Billing, of Little Falls, N.Y., took his January 1980 Jogger daughter to the top of her class and on to be named reserve senior and reserve grand champion. ASB BO TEN is out of Louada Isa June 113H.

Jim Strawn and nine-year-old Nicole Strawn are at the halters of the reserve champion cow and calf, another Falklands Farm entry.

True to her name, MB Miss Joggette 46M didn't leave the showring without a champion's rosette. This July 1980 Jogger daughter was tagged reserve junior champion female. She was exhibited by Double M-B Ranch and Win-D Acres of Westfield, Massachusetts.

Stephanie Earnhart of Leetonia, Ohio, exhibited the reserve champion heifer calf, EVF Ms Windchill. The October 1980 female is a BCR Improver daughter out of SCMS Specled 583K.

Empire Lethal, a January 1981 bull calf shown by Adrian Elwell & Son, Empire Polled Herefords and Storm Haven Farms, New Milford, Connecticut, was tagged champion bull calf by Judge Kropp. He is sired by Stlbrk Gilead 67K.

The reserve bull calf honors went to another Jogger son, Pride & Joy. The March 1980 calf was FEEDING HIGH MOISTURE CORN?

Add new Agway HMC Balancer for extra milk and profits.

There's no question high moisture corn is one of your cheapest sources of energy. But without the proper nutrients, this energy will be largely wasted as "empty calories."

New Agway HMC Balancer is a specially formulated concentrate that supplies valuable nutrients otherwise marginal or missing in high moisture corn. Agway HMC Balancer contains 32% protein of the right solubility, along with other minerals and vitamins needed to get the most from your herd in milk and profits. It is a Pro:Right® feed, with regulated protein solubility.

So if you're planning to feed high moisture corn, balance it with new Agway HMC Balancer.

Lamb consumption study stirs producer groups

UNIVERSITY PARK — Lamb has a great potential to be used on U.S. dinner tables, not only among those who currently use it, but among those of the younger generation who have tried it and liked it, according to a consumer research study conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council's Lamb Education Center.

The results of this study and marketing strategies being developed from it will be presented by LeAnn Nelson, Director of Education and Information at ASPC, at the Eastern Lamb and Wool Marketing Conference, November 22-24, at Sheraton Penn State Inn, State College.

The study depicted a solid core of "lamb lovers" in the U.S., making up approximately 11 percent of the population, and a "new wave" of lamb consumers who are younger and more affluent. They comprise about 17.5 per cent of the population.

A major portion of the conference will focus on lamb marketing.

For more information and to enroll for this conference, requests should be directed to: The Pennsylvania State University, Short Course Office, 306 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, PA 16802, 814/865-8301.

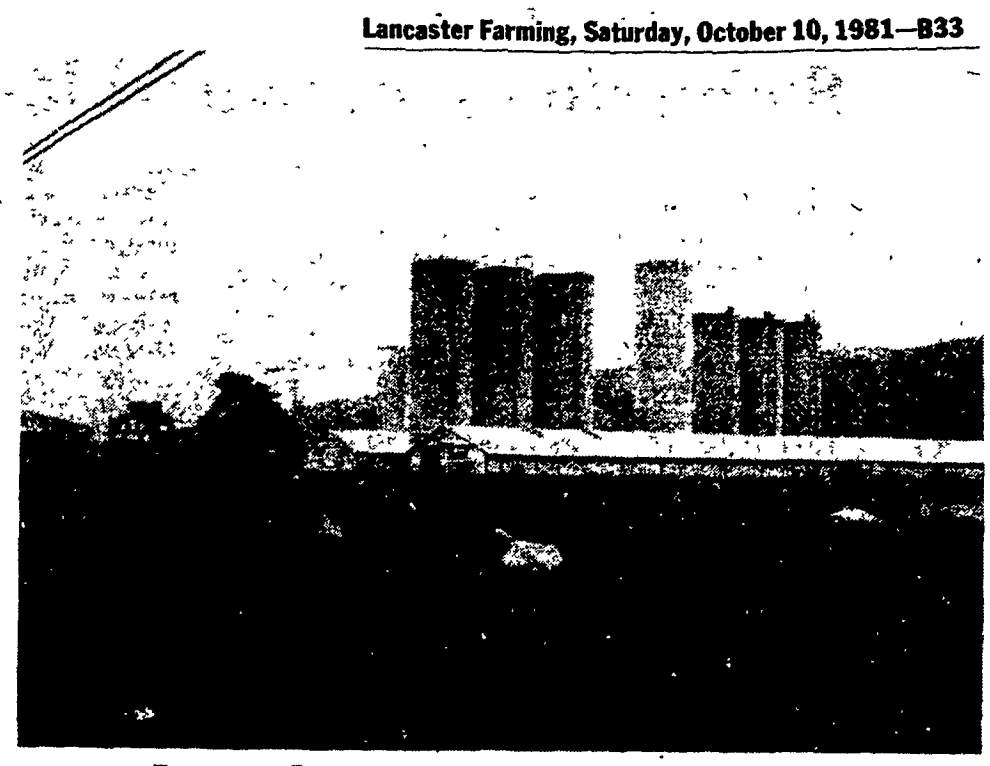
Back on the 2,300-acre farm, Harpster relaxes with his family — wife Marjorie and children, Christy, Heidi, Aaron, Andy and Abe, from left.



Evergreen Farms is famous for its fishing visitors and its nine silos.

Huntingdon dairyman joins Carter in China

By Patty Gross

SEVEN STARS — R. Wayne Harpster — "Dairy farmer and super fisherman."

That's what the file stated that followed the Huntingdon County man on his recent trip to Mainland China and Japan: Harpster was traveling with a group familiar to all of us. The 44-year-old farmer from Seven Stars said he was surprised and thrilled when former President Jimmy Carter asked him to join the late summer tour.

"I knew I wanted to go, but said I would talk it over with my wife," Wayne enthusiastically explains. "I called the president back the next day and told him I'd go."

Wayne and Marjorie Harpster first met Jimmy Carter several years ago when the president made a visit to the Seven Stars area of Huntingdon County to visit a neighbor. The presidential helicopter landed on "Evergreen Farms." That's when President Carter learned to love the trout fishing of Spruce Creek which flows through part of the Harpster's 2,300-acre farm.

Wayne considers it to be the "best Brown trout fishing in the world." It must be, because Carter and his family have returned to the privacy of the Pennsylvania retreat seven or eight times. The Harpster family's generosity was returned with invitations last year to visit the White House and Camp David.

While president, Carter normalized relations in 1979 between the U.S. and China. The August 23 to September 9 trip with the Carter party enabled dairyman Harpster to visit an 1,800 head dairy near Shanghai. The Pennsylvania farmer has high praise for the operation. "It was superb and very, very clean," he admits.

The government-owned farm put out a herd average of 13,500 pounds a year on three milkings a day. That is near the national average in the United States, however the Harpster's Holstein herd on two milkings a day turns out 17,000 pounds a year.

Wayne says he saw nothing during his travels that he wants to try on Evergreen Farms, however he promoted western ways. He considers America much more advanced than China. "Their breeding and genetics need to be improved," Wayne explains. "That's where American breeders can work with them. I hope we can open up for more cooperation." The dairyman, who has been around farming his entire life, says he was impressed with Chinese agriculture. "They had excellent crops." Wayne recalls that the climate and soil in Peking are similar to Lancaster. There were no rocks in the very deep soil. The traveler says very little commercial fertilizer is used, instead the Chinese farmers use human fertilization.

During his ten-day stay in China, the Seven Stars farmer, who raises 700 acres of corn, 600 acres of alfalfa and buys soybeans to round out his farm feeding program, saw mostly wheat, cotton, rice and corn. The Chinese farmers also chopped up squash to feed their cattle. Wayne found the Chinese didn't have very much machinery and what he saw wasn't modern. Many oxen, horses and people worked the farming commune as well as a few small, fairly modern tractors.

Wayne met millions of people as they traveled from city to city on a plane furnished by the Chinese government. The group also traveled on a very modern train, but according to Wayne there are not very many of them.

"The biggest problem is transportation," comments Wayne. "Being able to move their goods and agriculture products is a problem." The bicycle represents the top transportation to the Chinese. "In Peking, they have nine million people and three million bicycles," recalls Wayne jokingly. "It was always crowded out in the streets, and everybody was moving at the same speed."

What surprised Wayne more than anything was the people. "I didn't see any undernourished or fat people." China seems to be feeding its population as well as it takes care of the tourists from America.

"The Chinese are good farmers and good cooks. I never ate so good and so much in ten days. Japan is just as good," Wayne adds. He brought home pictures of beautifully decorated tables where elven to eighteen course meals are generously served. Hardly any dairy products were included in the meals because of almost no refrigeration. Wayne explains that is the reason they don't drink much milk. "You have to be pretty well off to own a refrigerator."

During much of the trip Wayne accompanied the Carters. But when he was on his own without an interpreter the language barrier didn't stop the curious, but friendly crowds from questioning the visitor. The Chinese were unable to understand how the 2,300 acre Seven Stars farm ran with just fifteen hired men. "They asked me if I had a guard around our place or whether I carried a gun," joked Wayne.

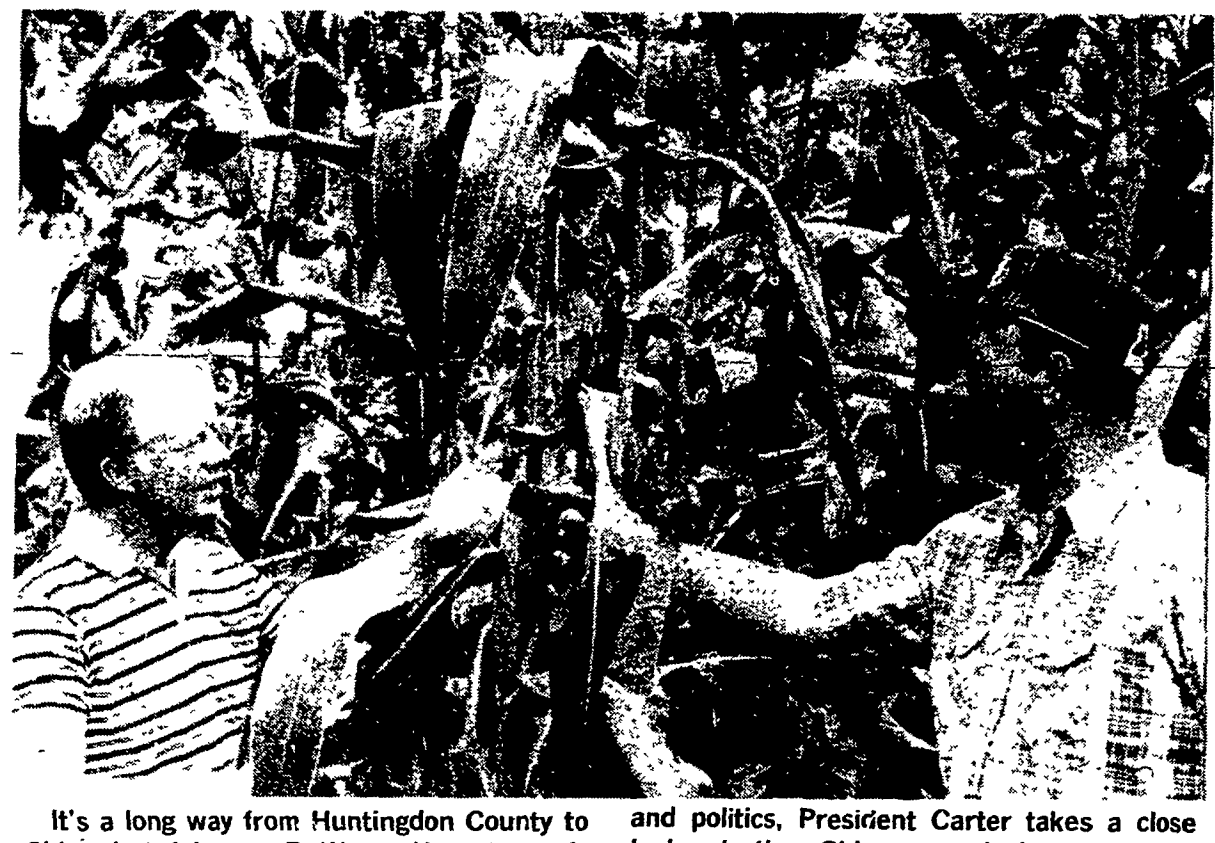
The final five days of the tour were spent in Japan where the "super fisherman" tested the trout waters of the Far East. During the four fishing hours, Wayne caught 40 trout including the large Rainbow. The man who devotes many hours to fishing and hunting at home, says he was disappointed in the garbage plaguing the Japanese streams.

On September 9, Wayne Harpster returned to the task of running his 700-head Evergreen Farms. The Huntindgon County farmer is no longer expanding his 2,300-acre farm along with the 600 acres he rents. He explains he feels it's time to improve and link together what he has already. A new project he is exceptionally proud of is his new calf pen which should soon be filled with 135 to 150 calves. The calves spend their first eight weeks in hutches on the Harpster farm before moving to the modern three-sided calf barn.

With memories of his trip to China still fresh in his mind, the progressive farmer is back in his fields harvesting corn in dump trucks. Wayne converted to the trucks for highway safety reasons and because of less maintenance. "It cost alot of money ($100,000) to change over but its worth it," he admits. Wayne adds, that he is getting great results with the renovation of his pastures. "The clover is doing terrific. The cattle can't keep ahead." Wayne is trying to keep ahead of the deer which are feeding in his cornfields. The outdoorsman has built a 500 acre game refuge on Evergreen Farms. Wayne agrees it won't keep them out of his fields, but he's hoping it will help.

Wayne Harpster says he manages his farm so that he can get away once in a while, sometimes with VIP's. Twenty-one days in President Carter's final six months in office were spent in the company of the Harpsters. The dairy farmer expects Jimmy Carter to visit again "pretty soon." Although Wayne admits he is "a Republican and a good one," the Huntingdon County man says he cares about "government and our country." When asked if he is now interested in running for political office, Wayne proudly answers, "I wouldn't trade my farm-life for anything."

(Turn to Page B37)



It's a long way from Huntingdon County to China, but dairyman R. Wayne Harpster feels right at home looking over a Chinese corn field. Although more familiar with peanut fields and politics, President Carter takes a close look at the Chinese agricultural efforts. Harpster accompanied Carter on the recent trip to mainland China and Japan.

Poultry production provides alternate fertilizer possibilities

Royalties, bonus payments, and delay rental fees are the incentives for property owners to sign an oil & gas lease.

However, Joe Macialek, Community Development Agent, cautions landowners should consider all the aspects that may be harmful to the land, the water, and the roads prior to signing an oil and gas lease.

State laws such as the Pennsylvania Gas Operations, Well Drilling, Petroleum & Coal Mining Act and the Pennsylvania Clean Streams Act provide some protection. However, the landowner should insure that erosion will be controlled, water supply will be protected, and all damages to crops, soil and access roads will be repaired or compensated. A clause making the driller responsible for all damages may be the best way to identify the drillers responsibilities.

In addition, Macialek stated, it is important that the driller assume all responsibilities for damages to any other party. This is accomplished through a hold harmless clause that releases the landowner from any responsibility of the drilling operation.

Since the drilling operation involves noisy machinery and heavy truck traffic, the landowner may want to avoid use of some areas as a drill site. These reservations must be part of the lease if they are to be enforced.

In addition, location of drill sites may require transportation of heavy loads over inadequate local roads. Local officials have the power to post local roads requiring a permit and payment of damages for destruction caused by heavy loads.

One final concern about oil and gas leases, Macialek stated, is the use of well sites for gas storage. When wells are close to heavy use areas, there may be need to connect them to storage areas after production ceases. The lease may contain provisions for this option. The actual rental fee for this land use may be contained in the lease. An alternate method for determining this fee is to make the fee negotiable or related to market value as of the time storage begins.

Huntingdon dairyman

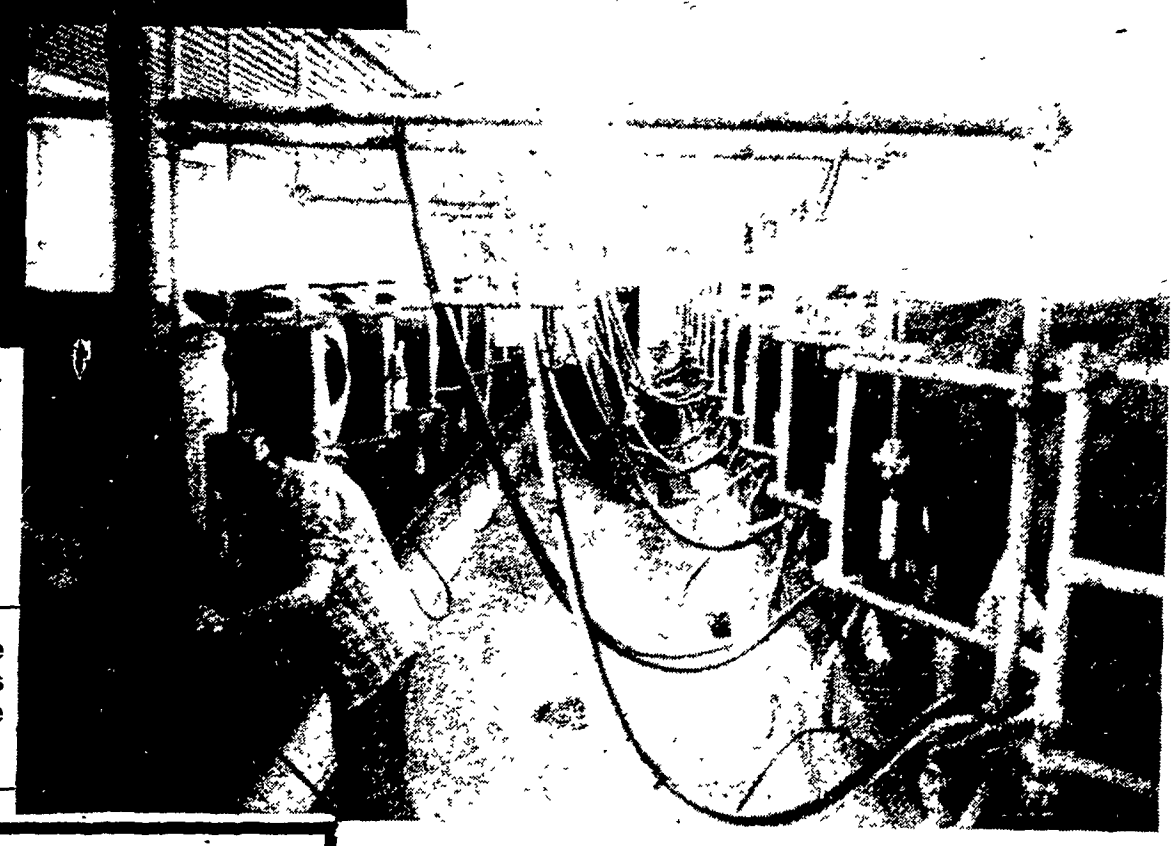
The Chinese work hard at keeping their dairy herds and barns clean, however, Harpster recognized that country's need to advance genetically for better production. That's where American dairymen can help, he claims.



In marked contrast to their Chinese counterparts, these Holsteins file in to this modern milking parlor to make their average 17,000 pounds in a year's time.

Construction of the Berks County 4-H Center got underway with an official ground breaking ceremony, October 1. Participating were the Reverend Sutliff, chairman; Ezekiel Ketchum, chairman of Fund Drive; Ellis Martzall, project general contractor, and Jayne Malsbury, president of the 4-H county council.

Construction begins on Berk's 4-H Center

LEESPORT — After much planning, work, and anticipation, the construction of the Berks County 4-H Community Center got underway during an official ground breaking ceremony conducted October 1 on the 4-H grounds located next to the county agricultural center, here.

The Reverend Rod Sutliff, Mohrsville, chairman of the 4-H Community Center Committee, acted as master of ceremonies as the ground was formally broken by a team of horses owned and driven by Clarence Luckenbill, Bernville.

Ezekiel Ketchum, Leesport, vice-president of American Bank and chairman of the Fund Drive Executive Committee, commented on how delighted he was that the ground-breaking day had actually arrived. Also addressing the occasion were Berks County Commissioners Donald Bagenstose, Vernon Shaffer, and Tony Carabello; Paul Davis, chairman, 4-H Development Council; and Jayne Malsbury, president, County Council.

Have a safe harvest

NEWARK, De. — Grain flowing into your combine or gravity box represents the profits from a year of hard work and investment. Don't let a tragic accident mar that reward.

A safe, efficient harvest depends first on the machine operator. It's up to the operator to make sure the combine and other equipment are in top running order with all protective devices in place.

It's vital to observe all the standard precautions as enumerated in the operator's manual, but the operator must take safety a step further. Constant alertness on the job is mandatory. Preoccupation and fatigue are common factors in harvesttime accidents, says Delaware Extension safety specialist Ron Jester.

"Downtime" also contributes to exhaustion and frustration. Have all machinery and equipment checked in advance and prepare yourself mentally for the job ahead.

Having a safe harvest often depends on how successfully you deal with problems that arise. Factors such as uneven feeding, separator capacity, size of feeding and threshing mechanisms, available engine power or ground conditions limit a combine's capacity. When you exceed the limits, you are asking for trouble or a breakdown. Be careful to deal safely with the following harvest situations:

If some part of the combine does plug, shut off the combine at once. Follow steps for unplugging as outlined in the operator's manual, with the power off.

Never attempt to make adjustments other than those recommended by the manufacturer when your machine is running. No one should go into the grain tank or stand anywhere near straw choppers or spreaders when a combine is in operation.

Be on the lookout for movement in the field ahead of the combine, as children or animals could be hidden by the crop. Try to keep children well away from all harvesting operations.

Operate your combine smoothly when working on sloping land; your machine has a high center of gravity and can be upset. If space permits, make a large loop when turning to go up a hill. Don't overfill the grain tank when working on sidehills and watch for ditches and holes.

High temperature and dry conditions increase fire hazards and place extra stress on machinery parts. Your combine should be equipped with a fire extinguisher at all times.

Down crops and cold, wet weather may be encountered when combining grain corn. Take extra care to guard against the hazards of mud and ice.

You, the operator, hold the key to harvest safety. Get started right — and have a safe harvest season.

WHEN IT COMES TO..... FIRE ..... "DON'T PLAY AROUND!

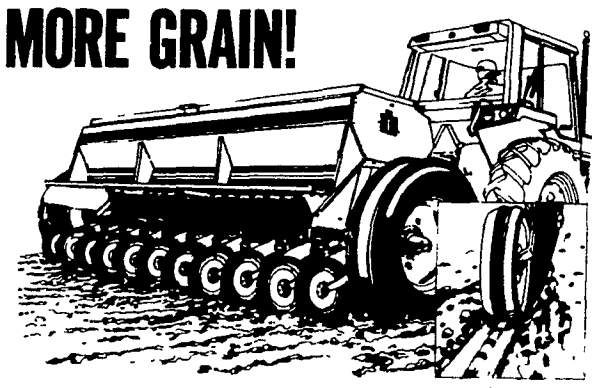
Drill With The International "5100 Special"

Outstanding accuracy begins with IH feed cups that deliver seed uniformly. Dual rib press wheels then compact the soil around the seed, and gently "pat" the top to prevent air holes. Result: uniform germination and emergence, a start toward higher yields.



The Key To Faster Emergence Is This IH Dual Rib Press Wheel

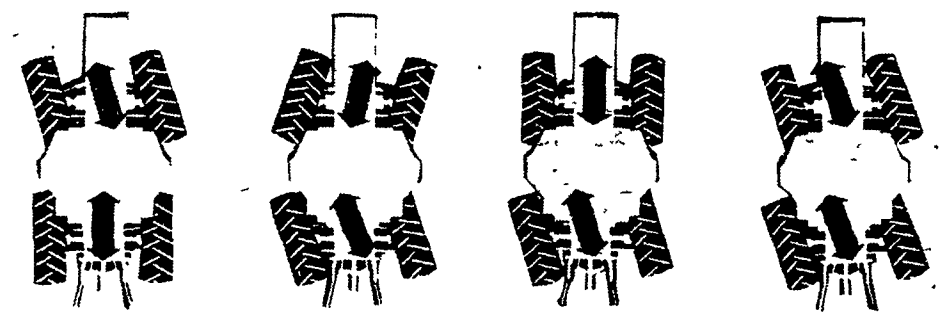
Case Steering is Not Like The Others... More Like Your Easy Handling 2-Wheel Drives



FRONT wheel steering. Automotive-style control. Ideal for row crops, most field work, road travel.

COORDINATED steering. Rear wheels and front wheels are electronically coordinated for sharp, full power turning.

CRAB steering counteracts implement drift on sidehills. Controls implement overlap. Makes four tracks (eight with duals) for maximum traction.

REAR wheel steering with electronic rocker switch "fine-tuning" makes implement hook-ups much easier. Great for maneuvering around yards and buildings.

If You Don't Think 4-way Selective Steering Makes a Difference You Haven't Test Driven a CASE 4-WD Tractor

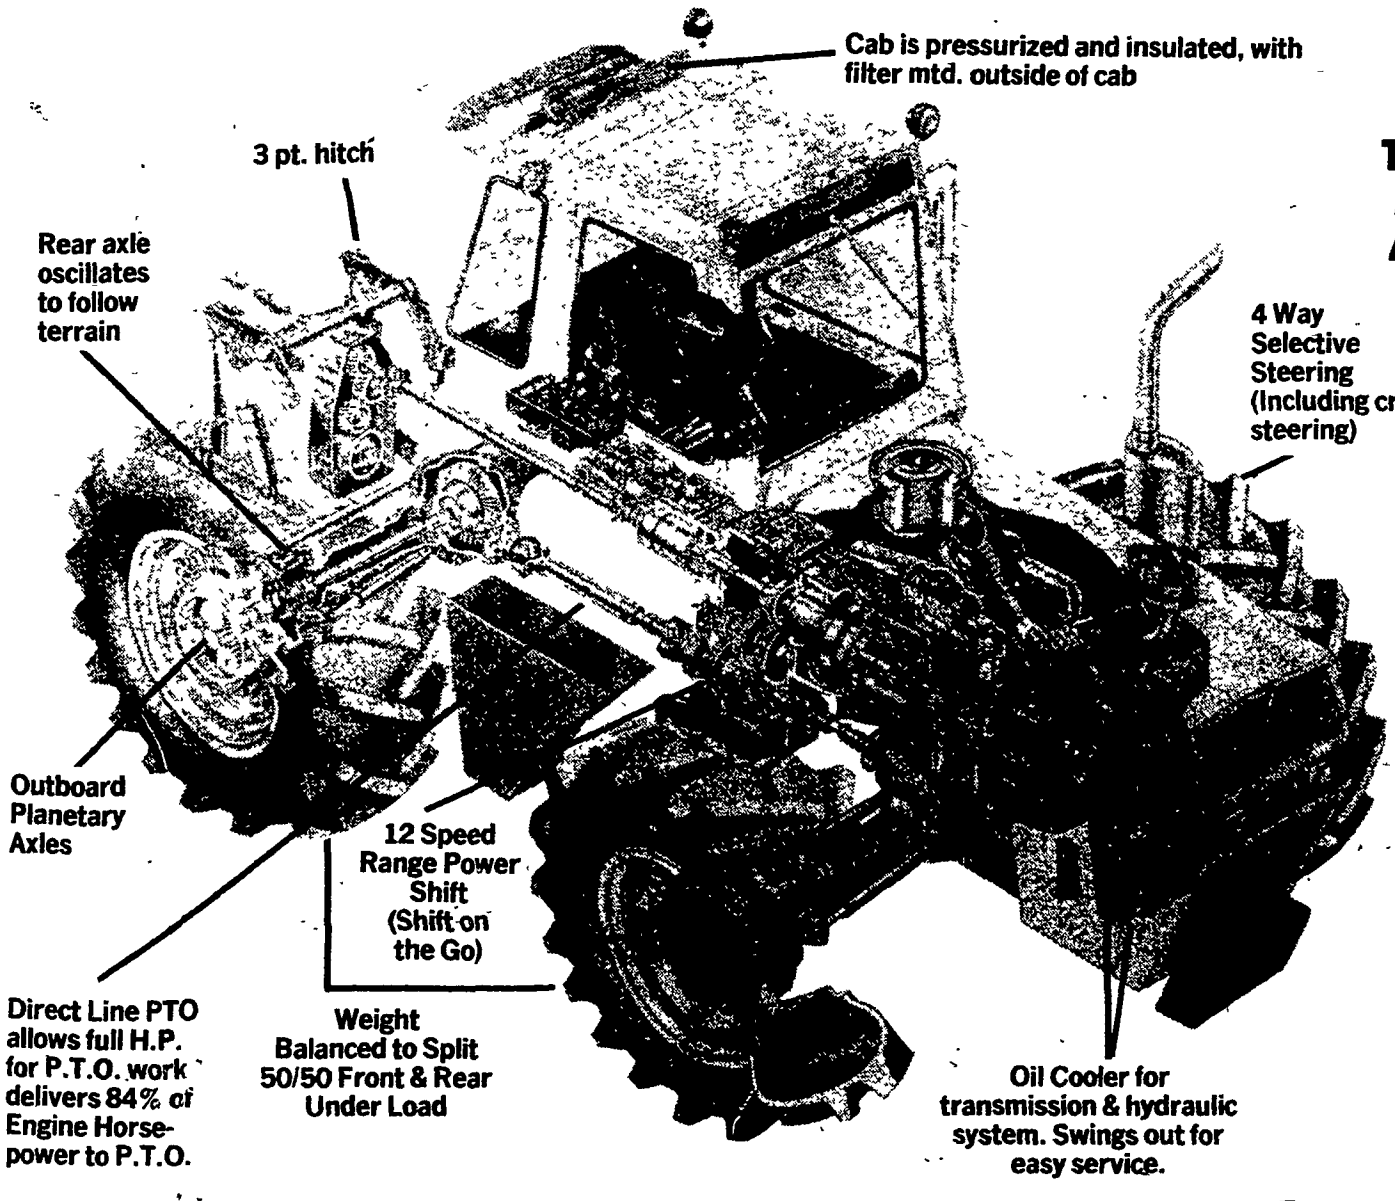
1. On the go power-shift transmission = no power loss. Standard in all 4-wheel drive models.
2. PTO shaft to utilize full engine horsepower without a safety cut off switch.
3. The best visability on the market - sit in our cab and see for yourself.
4. 3 point hitch with quick coupler.
5. More horsepower to the drawbar for your fuel dollar.
6. 2 wheel drive steering for corn planting, cultivating & row crop work.

CASE IS #1 IN 4-WHEEL DRIVE TRACTOR SALES

Only from CASE: FINGERTIP STEERING SELECTION AND AMAZING ELECTRONIC SENSING

Flick...flick...flick! As easily as you'd operate a light switch you can switch on-the-go from front to rear to coordinated to crab steering. When you switch to front steer, rear wheels center automatically.

WE DARE YOU TO COMPARE



Cab is pressurized and insulated, with filter mtd. outside of cab
3 pt. hitch
Rear axle oscillates to follow terrain
4 Way Selective Steering (Including crab steering)
Outboard Planetary Axles
12 Speed Range Power Shift (Shift on the Go)
Direct Line PTO allows full H.P. for P.T.O. work delivers 84% of Engine Horsepower to P.T.O.
Weight Balanced to Split 50/50 Front & Rear Under Load
Oil Cooler for transmission & hydraulic system. Swings out for easy service.

BEFORE YOU BUY OR LEASE A 4-WHEEL DRIVE TRACTOR, FIND OUT WHY MORE & MORE FARMERS ARE SWITCHING TO CASE FROM BINKLEY & HURST BROS. INC.!

Here Are Just A Few Reasons Why:

1. We service and sell in Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, portions of New York, Maryland and Delaware as a tractor specialist.
2. Free loaner: Case Company sponsored assured availability Standy-By Program which is very seldom used, but gives peace of mind.
3. Case On-The-Go Power Shift Transmisions are standard equipment which does not rob horsepower which other automatic transmissions are noted for.
4. Case 4-wheel drives are not just pullers, they furnish PTO horsepower, utilizing full engine horsepower. 3 pt. hookup, just like your 2 wheel drive. Up to 4 hydraulic remotes. Solid frame steering, just like your 2 wheel drive, does not bend in the middle.

Super Boom.

That's what you'll call a Sperry New Holland skid-steer loader after you run one. Super Boom lets you load the center of a tandem-axle spreader, handle big round bales, bags of fertilizer or feed, clean stalls and much, much more. The unique lift linkage gives you 28 to 34 inches of forward dump reach depending on which of the six models you choose. Super Boom also gives you more capacity, more stability and less spillback than conventional loaders. Choose gas or Diesel engine from 22-hp to 75-hp. Operating loads range from 900 to 2,050 pounds (S.A.E.).

LABOR-SAVER!

All around the farm.

Almost any job around the farm is easier when you use a Sperry New Holland skid-steer loader. Sperry New Holland loaders can pivot in their own length, so you can turn quickly and easily — even in tight places. Here are some of the jobs they'll do.

• Clean out feedlots • Handle silage • Move snow • Carry bales, feed, fertilizer bags • Drill post holes • Dig ditches • Provide hydraulic power for pruner, saws, and other equipment.

With the quick-attach feature, you can change from bucket to fork to blade in seconds — without dismounting. Even a backhoe can be attached quickly.

IF YOU LIKE OUR PRICES: WE'LL BE GLAD TO DEMONSTRATE ON YOUR FARM AND SHOW YOU ALL THE SUPERIOR SPERRY NEW HOLLAND FEATURES. CALL US SOON!

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite. Below are some of the properties of Gunite:
1. Excellent bonding
2. High Density
3. Extreme strength and hardness
4. High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration.
Reseal and re-strengthen your silo with Gunite.

National 4-H Awards Program names 41 winners

LANCASTER — Four-H members from across Pennsylvania have been named state winners in the 1981 4-H National Awards Program and will receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, November 29-December 3 to compete for awards at the national level.

Carroll Howes, associate 4-H youth division leader at Penn State who announced the award selections, said they were judged on the basis of project work, leadership ability, and participation in county and state activities.

These forty-one members were picked from among the more than 100,000 youth who annually take part in the Extension Service educational 4-H program.

Also named were alumni winners — picked from a quarter million Pennsylvania 4-H alumni. Two of the alumni chosen are Joy Walls and R. Budd Dwyer. Their story and that of the 4-H winners, follows:

Alumni Winners

R. Budd Dwyer

UNIVERSITY PARK — R. Budd Dwyer, of 738 Maple Street, Meadville, treasurer of the Commonwealth, today was named state winner of the 1981 Pennsylvania 4-H Alumni Recognition Award in the National 4-H Awards Program.

He will receive a plaque and compete for an alumni recognition award at the national level.

A Crawford County 4-H member for seven years, he was active in dairy club work until his enrollment at Allegheny College. As a club member he participated in all local, county, and district dairy shows as well as open class competition at the county fair.

His registered Ayrshires received grand and reserve grand championship ribbons each year in both 4-H and open classes.

The award winner served as 4-H club secretary for five years and was a charter member and officer of the Crawford County 4-H Council. He attended 4-H camp, 4-H Leadership Training School at Penn State, and staffed the 4-H booth at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

From 1965-71, Mr. Dwyer served as state representative and was assistant alumni secretary at Allegheny College. He was elected state senator in 1971 and state treasurer in 1981.

While serving as state senator, he attended the Dickinson School of Law and received the juris doctor degree in 1978. He is a member of the Crawford County, Pennsylvania, and American Bar Associations.

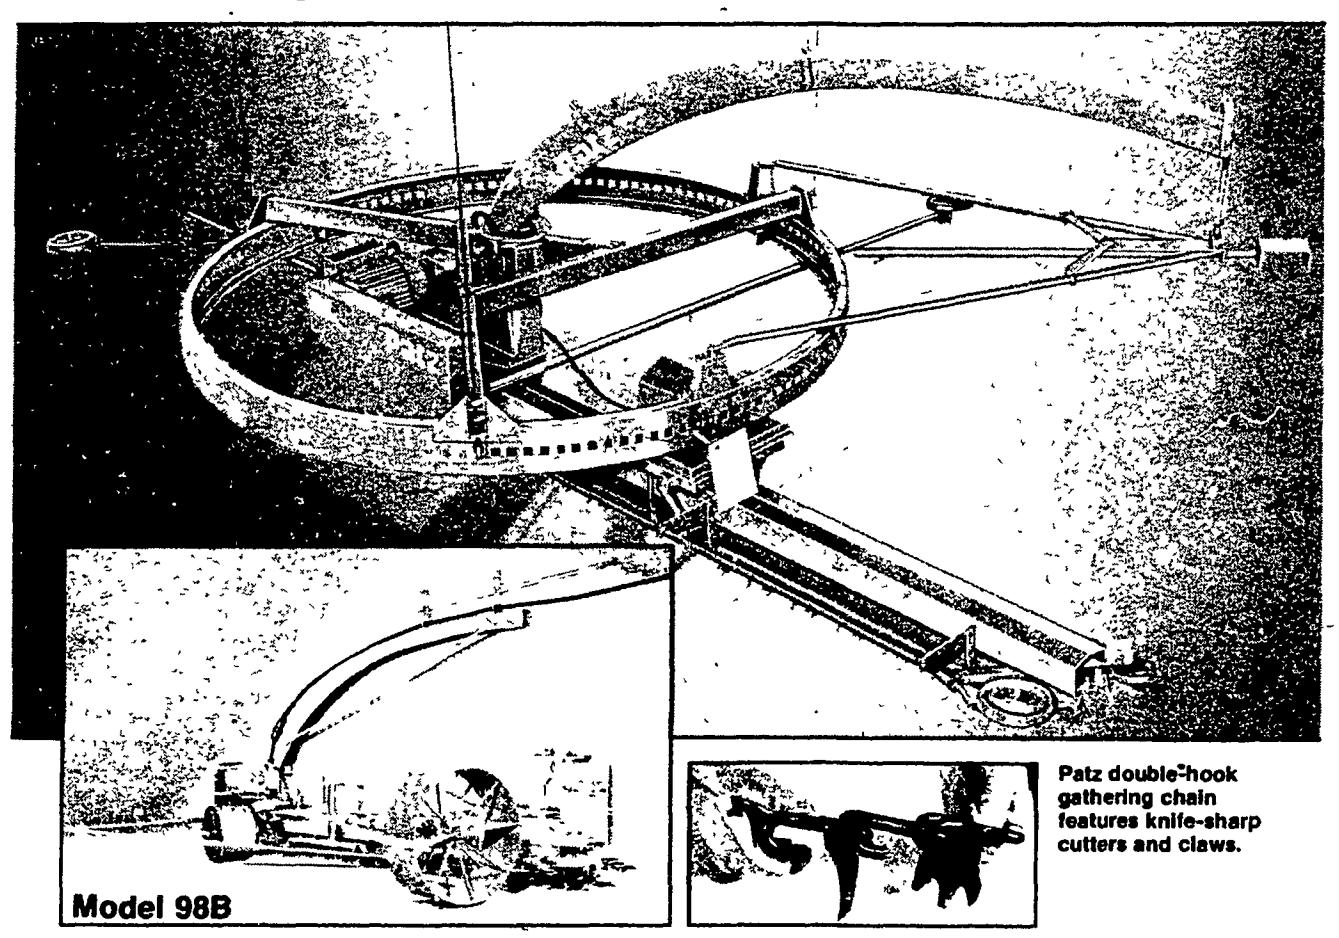
Rip Through Frozen Or Hard-packed Silage

with Patz ring-drive or surface-drive silo unloaders.



Model 98B

Patz double-hook gathering chain features knife-sharp cutters and claws.

Chain-saw action easily cuts silage loose. The Patz gathering chain loosens hard-packed or frozen corn silage, haylage or high-moisture corn and quickly gathers it into the powerful blower. The Patz high-speed power cutter with 4 self-sharpening, hardened-steel blades hugs the silo wall to eliminate silage buildup.

RD-790 Ring-Drive Unloader: Basically simple. We've combined our time-proven cutter-and-claw gathering chain with ring drive. An independent motor moves the cutter bar around the silo, while a larger motor runs the gathering chain and blower.

The RD-790 is well-balanced without counterweights. The ring is flanged to the inside for greater strength and is reversible for longer life.

The Patz RD-790 fits most existing 3-point suspension systems and hexapods, and allows quick change-over from filling to feeding.

98B Surface-Drive Unloader: Proven Dependable. The 98B has proven to be a rugged silo unloader under varied conditions. In addition to the Patz gathering chain, power wall cutter and many other Patz-plus features, you get preset depth-of-cut control.

Buy or lease: Leasing Patz equipment may be more profitable for you. Ask your Patz dealer for details.

Re: House bill #1483
Printer's #1723

Fellow Pennsylvanians:

House bill 1483 is a dangerous infringement on the FREEDOM AND PROPERTY RIGHTS of all citizens of the Commonwealth. You should request a free copy from your representative.

HB 1483 says:

"The water resources of this Commonwealth are public natural resources held in trust by the Commonwealth for the benefit of all the people." Page 7 line 18

HB 1483 provides the right of EMINENT DOMAIN for, not only a bureaucracy of the Commonwealth but for certain public utilities-the right to CONFISCATE the water from your well, even after you paid for a permit.

HB 1483 provides, "duly authorized agents are authorized at all reasonable times to enter and examine any property," "the owner shall give the agents free and unrestricted access." "Upon refusal to grant entry or access, the agent or employee may obtain a search warrant..." Page 42,43.

YOU MUST cry out against this infringement on YOUR property rights.

PDA proposes milk sanitation changes

HARRIBURG — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell announced Monday a public hearing to be held Wednesday, October 14, to discuss proposed changes in the State's milk sanitation standards.

"The proposed revisions, published September 26 in the Pennsylvania Bulletin, are needed so our state standards can better conform with recently revised federal standards," Hallowell said.

He said interested persons are invited to attend the public hearing at 10 a.m. in the State Agriculture Building, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg. All comments and suggestions should be submitted in writing prior to oral testimony, he added.

Those persons unable to attend may send written comments to G.W. Fouse, Chief of the Division of Milk Sanitation, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110.

Included among the proposed revisions are requirements for milk tank trucks to be sealed while in transit, accompanied by a shipping statement, and for all vehicles carrying milk and dairy products to be marked to identify the milk plant that processed it and the hauler who is transporting it.

The revisions will replace the current semi-annual test for vitamin D content in milk with a new, more sensitive chromatography procedure conducted only once a year.

The Department's Division of Milk Sanitation would also be required to approve plans before the installation of on-farm milk storage tanks, and it will be necessary for pasteurized milk containers to have tamper proof closures.

"The proposed revisions will provide more effective, uniform state-wide standards for the production, processing and distribution of milk and dairy products," Hallowell said.

"Pennsylvania is world famous for its dairy industry which supplies milk and dairy products to markets in states all across the Northeast. The new standards will ensure the continued interstate movement of these quality products and keep Pennsylvania Agriculture Growing Better," he concluded.

N.Y. announces feeder calf sales

DRYDEN, N.Y. — The New York Beef Cattlemen's Association has added a special sale to its series of fall feeder calf sales across the state. A sale for preconditioned calves will be held Nov. 13 here at the Empire Livestock Market.

The New York Beef Cattlemen's Association has endorsed the special preconditioned calf sale as part of its emphasis on marketing and has adopted a series of guidelines for preconditioning feeder calves.

These guidelines include weaning calves not less than 30 days prior to the sale date. The weaned calves are to be eating roughage from a feed bunk and drinking water from a source other than a natural source (ponds, streams, etc.) Calves are to be castrated and dehorned at least 30 days before the sale and are to be treated for grubs. Calves are to be vaccinated against stress diseases and respiratory infections.

Each calf consigned to the Dryden sale is to be accompanied with a certificate from a veterinarian stating these guidelines have been met.

The New York Beef Cattlemen's Association will also sponsor its regular fall feeder calf sales and each sponsoring division will make its own provisions to handle preconditioned calves consigned to its sale.

The Southwestern Division Sale will be Nov. 7 at the Angelica Feeder Sales Barn at Angelica; The Southern Tier Division Sale Nov. 14 at the Empire Market facility at Bath; the Eastern Division Sale Nov. 14 at the Chatham Auction at Chatham; and the Western Division Sale Nov. 21 at the Empire Market facility at Caledonia.

Be it ever so humble...

or what's this cow doing in my bed?

BY DONNA TOMMELLEO

HARRIBBURG — Move over Best Western.

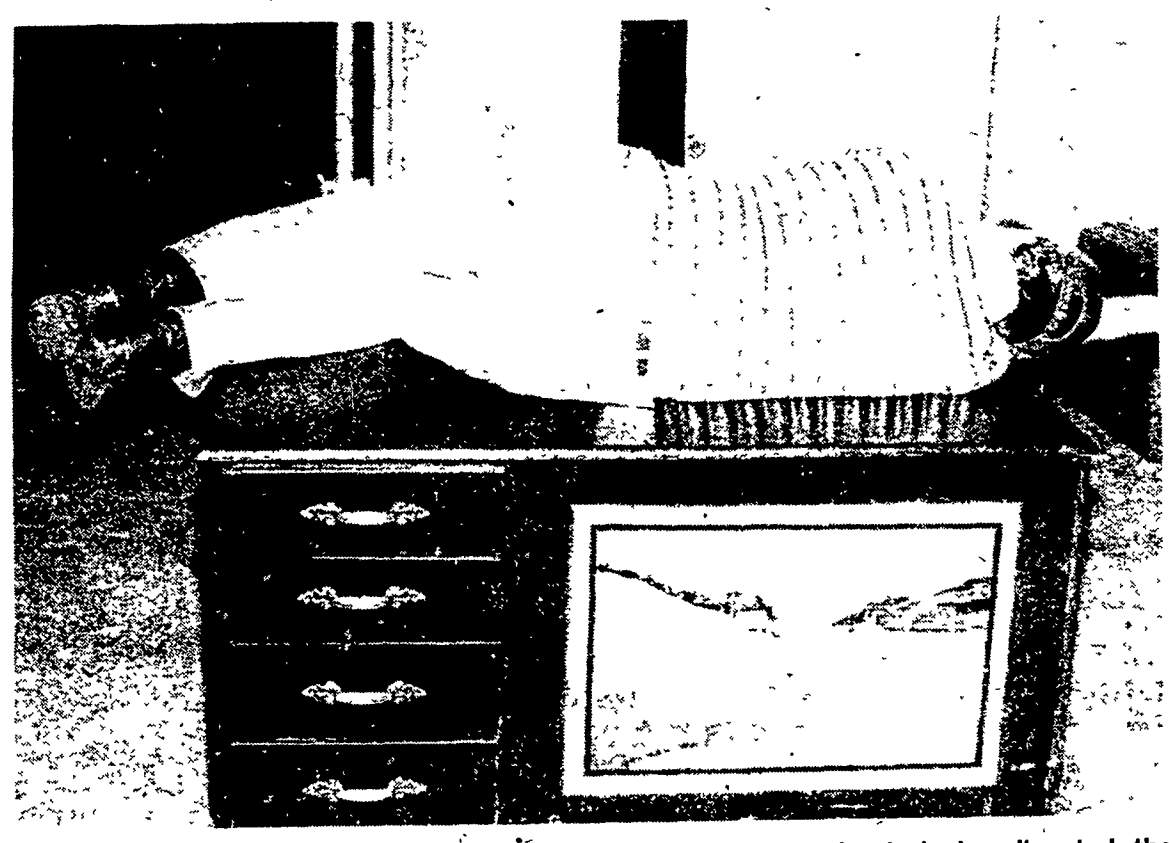
The Farm Show Complex easily could have been dubbed the "Best Eastern," last month after housing hundreds of road-weary dairy cattle breeders during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

(Turn to Page D30)

Because the nearest doorknob was a few hundred feet away, this weary guest didn't bother with a "Do Not Disturb" sign. However, that didn't matter since he slumbered right through popping flashbulbs and an endless parade of cattle which marched passed him toward the milking parlor.

Limousin service? With 14 acres to cover in just a week, some exhibitors took advantage of the shuttle service which also doubled as a hay cart. Although gratuities were included in the 7-day package, this rowdy group from New York "tipped" more than once before the ride's end. From left to right the group includes, Barb Luchsinger, Dennis Fergison, Charles Luchsinger, Dave Younger (hidden by catalog), Gretchen Buecheler, and the driver Doug Welch.

Televisions were not a standard feature in most rooms so, New York exhibitors the Martins and Baldwins brought along a portable just in time to watch the "Thursday Night Moovie." Reclining in the plush TV room from left to right, top row are Cheryl Baldwin, 3, Teri Martin, Audra Baldwin, 6, and Glenna Baldwin. The lower level includes from left to right, Patrick Martin 9, Charles Baldwin, 9, and Amy Baldwin 8.



Therapeutic beds, such as the one on which Gerald Palm, North Fairfield, Ohio, is mapping, provided that extra bit of support for aching backs. Even though Palm claimed he wasn't sleeping, he looked well-rested the following day in the winner's circle with his Grand Champion Ayrshire Female.

Be it ever

Unlike most motels, this 14-acre "inn" readily accepted pets. More than 2,000 pets, of the bovine species, relaxed and stretched out in deep mounds of straw. However, guests were asked to supply their own maid service.

Sleeping arrangements ranged from deluxe to economy. Cots and roll-away beds lined walls, peeked from behind tack boxes and filled virtually any space that could horizontally accommadate hard-working exhibitors.

Many guests, however, opted for the economy package. Depending on how many bales of straw used, exhibitors could sleep alone or in groups.

Night life abounded in the 7-day package deal. Singles, couples and families gathered regularly at the many watering holes to what else — water their animals.

The faster-paced crowd found that milking provided popular pulsating entertainment. For good, clean fun, several guests made frequent trips to the familiar night spot — the wash rack.

Meeting neighbors was never a problem since partitions were few and far between. And while major competition continued in the large arena, friendly card, checkers and backgammon games passed the time for some.

By the end of the week the complex had taken on a ghost-town atmosphere as check-out time neared. Once again the gaint complex closed its doors to the fullhouse crowd until next-year's All-American — of course, only after all the towels have been counted.

Of course, some of the more deluxe suites included desks and chairs for the well-read crowd. Motel stationary, however, was extra. Glenn Mumaw, Orrville, Ohio, catches up on a little late night reading.

Bush may speak at Pork Congress

DES MOINES, Ia. — The National Pork Producers Council has invited Vice President George Bush to present the keynote speech at the opening ceremony of the American Pork Congress, March 9-12, 1982.

NPPC President John Saunders has expressed cautious optimism on the Vice President's acceptance of the invitation.

"Of course, it's nearly impossible to get an ironclad commitment from the President, Vice President or any cabinet officer because it is impossible to predict what crisis we may be dealing with six months from now. However, we have a very favorable indication that the Vice President would be quite interested in addressing pork producers during their annual event which draws some 15,000 producers," Saunders said.

The Indianapolis Pork Congress is expected to be one of the NPPC's largest. Traditionally, Indianapolis had drawn record crowds in a rotation of cities that now includes St. Louis and Kansas City.

The event will feature a number of top speakers and seminars, plus the NPPC's annual delegate meeting. A major attraction of the convention is the Trade Show, which is expected to have over 700 booths, with representation from more than 350 firms.

Further information about the American Pork Congress is available from the National Pork Producers Council, P.O. Box 10383, Des Moines, Iowa, 50306. Registration begins in December.

Waterfowl banding continues

HARRISBURG — Waterfowl banding is being continued by the Game Commission as part of a federal-state program to monitor Pennsylvania bird populations.

Following last year's waterfowl hunting seasons, 3,740 birds were banded, including 888 Canada geese, and 2,852 ducks. Numbers of geese banded were about the same as in the preceding year, but the number of ducks, especially black ducks, were lower.

Another 7,000 birds have been banded recently, but upcoming waterfowl hunting seasons will temporarily interrupt the program.

Banding operations are conducted in cooperation with the Atlantic Flyway Council, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to help determine populations, mortality and survival rates. The information is used to establish hunting seasons and bag limits.

Band recoveries provide the Game Commission with information on local waterfowl populations; the relationship between resident and migratory bird numbers; movements of birds within the state; as well as migration to and from the state; productivity; etc.

Banding studies have been used to establish four experimental waterfowl hunting zones, and to measure what is happening in each of those areas.

Hunters who take banded waterfowl are urged by the Game Commission to return the band to the Game Commission, along with the exact date and location of harvesting.

PURINA®
BIO-4®
FEEDING PROGRAM

A program of feeding pullets and layers precisely the amount of nutrients they need to grow and produce eggs efficiently. Now such precision is possible with the Bio-4 rations. Five levels of feed fortification for five intake levels are provided in the series of rations. Bio-4 ration options allow even greater flexibility to meet specific needs in your particular operation. Also, from Bio-4 concentrates, complete Bio-4 rations can be mixed.

The Bio-4® Feeding Program:
- ★ Promotes optimum performance
- ★ Eliminates expensive nutrient wastage
- ★ Improves feed efficiency
- ★ Permits egg size control
- ★ Provides flexibility to changing conditions
- ★ Compliments benefits of other Purina programs

For more details about the Purina Bio-4 Feeding Program, ask your Purina Salesman or Dealer, or request Purina Bio-4 Feeding Program (P1702) from Purina. If you have specific nutrient needs in your operation, ask about the Bio-4 options. If you have milling facilities available, ask about the Bio-4 Concentrates from which any complete Bio-4 ration can be mixed.
